OUR FOREIGN TRADE

Moving the raw materials of the Islands down our tropical rivers, thence overland to our seaports, across wide oceans to the great industrial centers of America and foreign lands, is no less a banking than a transportation problem. It is a huge public service also, well deserving the co-operation of all good citizens.

This institution has been organized primarily to offer an efficient, in fact an unusual, service to exporters, and in financing imports from the United States.

GENERAL BANKING FACILITIES

SAVING ACCOUNTS—INTEREST 4%—Computed quarterly.
Fixed deposits—interest-bearing certificates payable at specified time.

A few facts about EL DEBATE, and a few others about Advertising

REMEMBER:—

1. THAT "EL DEBATE" is a Filipino paper, published in Spanish every morning, except on Mondays.
2. THAT it is the only Filipino paper published in the morning, thus being the only one read before the daily routine is gone into.
3. THAT it has the originality of publishing a cartoon on topics of the day, in its issue, thus giving the paper an additional interest.
4. THAT IT IS the daily that has been doing its utmost to promote business in the Philippines.
5. THAT it is a member of the Associated Press of America.
6. THAT it owns the printing press wherein the paper is printed.
7. THAT our sworn declaration filed with the Bureau of Posts on October 1, 1920, shows our average daily circulation to be five thousand copies.
8. THAT our circulation is more or less distributed as follows:—
   City of Manila: subscribers 2,200; sales on streets 600;
   Provincial: subscribers 1,800; sales to agencies 300;
   Foreign countries: subscriptions and otherwise 100.
9. THAT our subscription list shows our class of subscribers to be divided as follows:—

Farmers	40%
General merchants	30%
Officials	10%
Property owners	10%
Employees, etc.	10%

thus showing that it goes to every corner.

10. THAT it is an Independent paper, not affiliated with any political party, thus giving its sole attention to the welfare of the country at large and the business community in particular.
11. AND last but not least, REMEMBER that the advertising season in the Philippines might be divided as follows:—

From October to May, inclusive, the months wherein the principal products of the country are harvested and sold; when the national and local holidays and celebrations take place, such as that of the Holy Rosary in October, Thanksgiving Day in November, the Xmas season and Rizal Day in December, the New Year, the lively Carnival in February, the Vacation Days in March, Easter Week in April, the celebrations of the Holy Cross in May, and what not, which is the period when out people,—be he young or old, rich or poor—spend their savings to provide themselves with the necessities of life and in order to keep them on the safe side with society.

From June to September, inclusive, the months comprising our so-called "wet season," and yet having its own events, such as the opening of the School Year in June, the Glorious Fourth of July, Occupation Day in August, and Arbor Day in September, when everybody also provide themselves with the necessities of the season and especially those for the farm.

Publishers' Notice

Volume XXVII of Rosenstock's Manila City Directory is presented to the public with the assurance that every effort has been made to make the information published accurate and up to date in every particular.

The Directory is divided into four distinct departments, which makes its use easy and simple. The four Sections are as follows:

Miscellaneous Section—This Section contains all the miscellaneous and Government Information. Useful tables of weights and measures, telegraph rates, post office and money order offices in the Philippines, distances from Manila to other cities, Customs duties, typhoon signals, and many other useful tables. The Chronological Record of important acts of the Philippine Government has been brought up to August 31st, 1920. A complete Index to the Miscellaneous Section will be found in the fore-part of the book.

Alphabetical List of Firm Names.—This Section is composed only of names of Firms and Professions. The list is arranged alphabetically, and the names of the officials and most important employees of each firm are printed under the firm name. For the convenience of the public, the individual names of local residents are not included alphabetically in this list, but are all compiled in alphabetical order in a Section by themselves.

Classified List of Firms.—The Classified Section contains firm names and their addresses, classified under trade headings. This list is very useful in obtaining information of merchants dealing in certain lines, whose firm names might not be known to the party looking for the information. For instance, under the heading of "Importers," you will find all the Manila Importers, thereby reducing the list of merchants to those who are Importers. This list is very valuable to all users of the Directory.

Alphabetical List of Local Residents.—This Section contains the names and addresses of individuals only. Firm names have been compiled separately.

Important.—To use any book with ease and pleasure, you must first know your book. Remember that this Directory is divided into four Sections; think what section you should use for the information you desire and you will save much time and patience.

MANILA

The history of the Philippines is little more than the story of the ancient and picturesque city by the Pasig whose favorable situation for commerce long ago led it to be called "the Pearl of the Orient". Manila is metropolis and capital of the archipelago, and that the islands and city have future as well as past is convincingly shown in a declaration of John Barrett, former American minister to Siam and now head of the International Bureau of American Republics: "Even Java, the garden of the East, with a foreign trade of $250,000,000 annually, has no such large extent of fertile areas as the Philippines."

Its 115,000 square miles of land, on three thousand or more islands, lie within the Tropics, but mountain barriers and water surroundings combine to modify the temperature to semi-tropical comfort.

Located close to Asia, but not of it, the Philippines geographically bear much the same relation to the largest of continents that the British Isles do to their smaller neighbor. But in opportunities the Asiatic outpost is more fortunate than its European counterpart. Its chief city commands, as does no other port, the oriental routes and has naturally tributary to it that awakening Far East where are the homes of two-thirds of the world's population.

These elder people are not forgetful of the decades of enforced unfair trade which opened their eyes to the practical advantages of Western knowledge. Every Oriental who had ever felt himself humiliated by an European, each native who could recall having at one time or another been bested in bargaining with foreigners,—these were the millions of Asiatics that acclaimed Japan's triumph over Russia, though it was but the power least Asiatic gaining an empty victory from the least European. By the disillusioning which followed Japan's brief assumption of the role of instructor in modern ways to the Orient, the Philippines is profiting. No longer is it heard that the older civilization by its more generations of training has mastered and improved the ways of the West, students from abroad are not now crowding the streets of Tokyo, Japanese manufactures are difficult to market, the nation's pretensions are viewed with suspicion and the Mikado's subjects cannot be said to be in demand as instructors.

Yet this speedy setting of the Rising Sun popularity does not mean that the Asiatics have surrendered prejudices in favor of their kind. Disappointed they have not reached discouragement. Another model and mentor from Asia and for Asia will be chosen, but with more care and caution. Many an almond eye is turning on the single Christian people of the Orient, the sole representative in the Far East of popular government. Should the present policy in the Philippines prosper it will be believed by many interested observers that modern moral standards and a modern governmental system must be added to modern armament and education to succeed in XX century commercial competition the field wherein they were worsted and are now seeking to retrieve themselves. Philippine endeavor will have Asiatic encouragement and Filipino instruction will be sought if the conditions cause confidence. There is no rival so firmly established in the affections of the consumers that the shipping of the Orient may not again centre in Manila bay, where it naturally belongs.

A rocky island off the Canton coast some seventy years ago gave shelter to refugees denied the right to trade in the southern Chinese metropolis. Security for life and property have since made Hongkong one of the world's greatest ports. Today not six hundred miles distant and more centrally situated, is a city where the European or American merchant is in familiar surroundings. Four centuries of Christianity assure them there will be no religious outbreak. No strange customs shock the sensibilities. Peaceful conditions have come through righting grievances, the best guarantee of their permanence, and few as large communities in Christendom are so orderly. The largest body of Caucasian troops in the East is maintained in a permanent military post just outside the city. Police and Fire departments are up to date, water pure and abundant, the sewer system complete and modern. Hospitals, churches, schools, libraries, museums, places of amusement and social organizations have sufficient support to maintain satisfactory standards and are numerous enough to afford a choice. A network of electric railways gives cheap city and suburban transportation, a considerable and increasing mileage of fine country highways makes possible extensive automobile excursions, and good railways lead to picturesque waterfalls, to medicinal springs for the week-end and, by an eight hour trip, to a model mountain city so that with slight expense the summer heat can be avoided.

Efficient sanitation, which has almost banished plagues and epidemics, has made Manila health conditions excelled only by the favored parts of the temperate zones. The naturally safe harbor has been improved. Modern docks with electric cargo-handling machinery and convenient railways provide expeditious and economical loading and unloading. Bonded warehouses permit the storage of goods and their reshipment without payment of duty so that for distributing, the port is a free one. The advantages, combined with the fact that Manila is the outlet for a new wonderfully productive region just beginning to come under cultivation, justify the faith of the three progressive and energetic chambers of commerce, American, Spanish and Chinese, whose efforts for a better known and more prosperous Manila are winning increasing sympathy and support from a cosmopolitan community and a progressive government.

No mention has been made of the people of the country, because unfortunately they have been content to leave the business in the hands of outsiders. There are over ten million Filipinos, and with the end of epidemics, encouraging effects from efforts toward controlling tuberculosis, and great decrease in infant mortality, the population figures are rapidly going upward.

The Filipino, in ancestry, represents many different elements. Of the Malays it was once stated that "the stock is the most conspicuous and energetic of the ocean peoples. Its representatives are found extending about two-thirds around the world, reaching from Easter Island to Madagascar."

The first of the Malay invaders, coming here possibly five centuries before the Christian Era, were like the Igorots whose rice-farms terrace the hills of Benguet. Their predecessors, the tree-dwelling Negritos, though not true Africans, have wooly hair. They are dwarfed physically, and intellectually are counted among the most backward members of the human family. Driven into more and more remote regions, as additional newcomers arrived, they have stayed in a savage state to this day, still not over-dressed and clinging still to bows and arrows. Some small tribes exist of apparently Negrito-Igorot descent the first half-breeds in this land of mixed blood, but the unmistakable evidences of Negrito influence are to be seen in almost every town among members of the civilized tribes. As slaves many came into Spanish homes and the houses of the wealthier natives, and in time their descendants lost their racial identity, so that they are no longer to be distinguished, except by the ethnologist, from the other Christianized Filipinos. Nor can it be said that these curly haired natives are any less intelligent than the run of their countrymen, suggesting that the Negrito's name for denseness is due to insufficient knowledge of what he can do when given an opportunity. Interest in the Negrito strain has been stimulated in recent times by the slogan "Filipinos in face and feeling", of demagogues who for political purposes are desirous of introducing racial dissension among their countrymen. The phrase seems to be applied to those who have the coarser negroid countenance and to discriminate against the finer-featured Chinese half-breed, or "mestizo" to use the local expression. Yet most of these leaders probably had Chinamen among their ancestors.

About A. D. 500, Malays who had been under Hindoo influence came to the Islands. A Sanscrit element appears strongly in the local dialects, and the civilization of ancient India in government, religion and customs affected the Malays, who as sea-rovers had a foundation character a little like the sailor-folk who made early England—adventurous, self-reliant and hardy. The practical control of the home belonging in the Philippines to woman, so different from her lowliness in Asia, reminds one of the advantage in that way that the English women have over their Continental sisters,—due perhaps to the sailor-husband's being so much away that the direction of the household had to fall to the wife.

The latest immigration of Malays, of Mahometans, was still coming, and the proselyting by the indefatigable Arab merchants was going on when the Spanish conquest aroused the opposition which stopped the progress of Islam, first in the north and later, by many years, in Mindanao,—a region to this day nominally Mahometan or "Moro", for the Spaniards always called those of Mahometan religion "Moros" wherever they met them, and tried to treat them as harshly as they had those of their own country whenever they had the power.

The commerce with the south brought copper and tin which had been imported into Borneo from China, porcelain, dishes, gongs, benzoin, colored shawls from India, Chinese cooking-pans, and iron lances and knives famed for their temper,—which were paid for in gold, slaves, wax and a small seashell so much in demand that in Siam it was used for money, and quantities of white cloth.

Besides the Arab merchants, the Philippines had been a trading ground for Chinese possibly since the twelfth century. A geography written by a salt-revenue collector whose district included that of the present Amoy, in the early twelve hundreds, says: "The country of Mayi (believed to be the Philippines—the Tagalogs had an early family whose name read 'Princes of the Land of Mayi') is situated to the north of Poni (Bornei or Borneo). About a thousand families inhabit the banks of a very winding stream, the natives clothe themselves in sheets of cloth resembling bedsheets or cover their bodies with sarongs (the gay-colored, typical garments of the Malays). Scattered through the extensive forests are copper Buddha images, but no one knows how they got there.

"When the (Chinese) merchant ships arrive at this port they anchor in from off an open place which serves as a market, where they trade in the produce of the country. When a ship enters this port, the captain makes presents of white umbrellas (to the chiefs). The merchants are obliged to pay this tribute in order to obtain the good will of these lords."

The exports of Manila then, seven hundred years ago, were yellow wax, cotton, pearls, shells, betel nuts and a cloth which probably was of abaca, (Manila hemp), or piña (pineapple fiber) like the fabrics of now. Imports included porcelain, trade gold, leaden manufactures, glass beads of many colors, iron cooking-pans and iron needles.

The earliest English reference to the Archipelago may have been in Sir John Mandeville's "Adventures of the Countries and Lands that be beyond the Land of Cathay (China)," a XIV century book which passed beyond the ordinary suspicion aroused by travellers' tales and was considered in its time the non plus ultra of Munchausenness. Even at this far distant day men are found maintaining that nothing more magnificently mendacious has ever been perpetrated. Yet in one of the statements—most hilariously received by the Merry England of long ago—we may see, if not technical, a recognizable description of a spicy land of bananas and cocoanuts, possibly the first appearance of the Philippines before the European public:

"In that country belong Apples of good Savour, whereof be more than 100 in one Cluster, and as many in another, and they have great long Leaves and large of 2 Foot long or more. And in that country, and in other countries thereabout, grow many Trees that bear Gylofre-Cloes and Nutmegs and great Nuts of Ind and Cinnamon and many other Spieces''.

In the last year of the XV Century, that time of tremendous activity in discovery and conquest, a prudent Pope, to avoid strife between his remaining adherents, divided the world between Spain and Portugal. He overlooked that the half globes were not to be demarcated by a single line like the map on Mercator's projection which he ruled in two, and the disaffected Dutch and English were likewise absent from his calculations.

An Italian had discovered America for the Spanish sovereign. The next discoverer for Spain was a Portuguese, Magellan. Piqued at not getting the reward which he deemed his services in the Spice Islands deserved, this Portuguese nobleman decided to show his king's rival how to reach those coveted lands from the opposite direction, a route which was permitted to Spain by the letter of the demarcation agreement. Magellan passed the Straits which preserve his name, reached the Philippines and died on one of the smaller islands in a petty local war wherein he sided with the King of Cebu.

With a single ship, their leader dead, and on the sufferance of their Portuguese rivals, these first circumnavigators fared miserably on their way home.

Quite different was the third sailor to follow Magellan (after the Spaniards, de Loaysa and del Cano), Sir Francis Drake, one of the English that had not been considered in halving the earth. In sixteen days, against Magellan's thirty-one, he passed the Straits and was the first commander of an expedition to circle the earth as well as the forerunner of the foes which disturbed Spain's Pacific possessions till transplanted Englishmen finally took them over.

The people of the islands which Magellan added to the Spanish crown were far ahead of the present Igorots, their relatives. They lived in large towns instead of hamlets, had their own writing, whose simplicity showed that it was a high development, and according to the early chronicles there were few, even among the women, who could not write. The likelihood of this widespread accomplishment appears in the commonness of the writing materials, for records were scratched on bamboo sections with one of the giant grass's spines, as may yet be seen among the Mangyans of Mindoro. The richer people wore garments of silk and Indian gauze, used porcelain plates, their jewels were of value and in good taste and they had cannons and fortifications.

The Laws of the Indies of the ancient Gothic Kingdom of Castile, and so providing a town government akin to the English, for Goths and Anglo-Saxons came from the same haunts in the ancient German forests, provided for retaining the Filipinos' local system of law. The religion much resembled that of primitive India, and, if there were human sacrifices, mediaeval Spain had its Inquisition and early New England its witch burnings. Slavery was less harsh than that of the Spanish encomenderos or feudal lords, and one of the earliest Spanish missionaries mentions hearing slaves say, in objection to some command from their masters, ''It is not worth my while.''

An expedition from Mexico, under one Basque, possibly a blonde, like Cortez' companions in the conquest of Mexico who for the most part were fair of complexion, came to Cebu in 1565, and later captured Manila. The Archipelago then was called ''The Isles of the West'', and it continued a part of the Spanish New World till the American colonies became republics in the early part of the XIX Century. The real conqueror of the Philippines was the grandson of the first governor, Salcedo. He was American-born, and the fast friend of the Filipinos, whom he made heirs to his estate in the north. This early American association may come as a surprise to the respectable number who consider that Dewey discovered the Philippines, yet all through their history the Islands have been linked with the New World through which alone could Spain claim them and with which their future, we must recognize, is to be linked.

No mention has been made of the somewhat fanciful belief that the North American Indian is a Malay or of the old Spanish historians' claim that the Malays came from South America. But so good an ethnological authority as Ratzel classes the Filipinos as of the American-Pacific race.

Till some years into the XIX Century, all intercourse which the Philippines had with Europe was through America. The laws made for the Americans were its laws.

Administratively the Philippines were a part of Mexico. There its priests were educated. Through the pious philanthropy of Mexican officials its colleges and charities were endowed. Political ideas came thence, just as did a large number of the more important plants (like coffee, chocolate and maiz) and trees, and many customs. The habit of speech was more Mexican than Castilian. No small part of the so-called Spanish mestizos are of Mexican-Spanish descent. Mexican were many of the early officials, and as Americans they were considered less loyal to Spain than the peninsulars. Such was the reproach against the American archbishop who surrendered Manila to the British.

As Americans the Spanish King joined the Mexicans and the Filipinos in acknowledging their loyalty during the Napoleonic wars and the revolt of the Mexican army officers, who were dissatisfied at the greater favor shown the peninsulars was called an American conspiracy. Until January 1, 1845, the Philippines used the same day as America and were considered in the western hemisphere. The name America may still be seen in old baptismal registers, having been borne by not a few people

To restrict America to the United States the free ideas which came from Mexico were largely the result of the influence of her northern neighbor. Spain's jealousy of England led her to spread the story of the revolt of the North American colonies and to espouse the colonial side with reckless disregard of how her own government compared with that of which the colonists complained. The comparison cost the Castilian crown its overseas possessions, the Philippines last of all but no less through the introduction of ideas which otherwise the customary censorship might have kept out for many more years.

Whether Freemasonry actually played the important part in Spanish liberal politics which all the reactionary writers attribute to it, or not, there can be no doubt that during the XIX Century it was the liveliest topic both in Spain and in the Philippines. In 1804 the influence of the Scottish Rite Council at Charleston, South Carolina, spread to Spain, and America came to be denounced equally with England and France, later even to receive greater attention, as a source of the discontent which the conservatives considered due to Masonic teachings.

The development of the hemp trade was due to American initiative. A Plaza Cervantes monument to an American consul (from Massachusetts) of 1834 recalls those days. This was some years before England was represented. There were American commercial houses that took the lead in trade during a period when American capital was more welcome than it is now. The American flag was a commoner sight than the Spanish among the shipping in Manila harbor before the Civil war. America's humanity attracted attention when Commodore Perry sent one of the ships of the Japan Expedition to return a boatload of Philippine Islanders who had been driven to the China coast during a storm.

An American expedition was charting Philippine waters more than half a century earlier than the Coast and Geodetic Survey, and an American ship brought ice, the first to be seen in the Islands, forty years before the Cold Storage plant was built. "The Philippines for the Filipinos" was said nearly three-quarters of a century prior to the "America for the Americans" of the Monroe Doctrine and followed right on the heels of that declaration. And Filipino students went to American to study, to Boston, not much later.

There is said to have been a Filipino sailor, wounded in the war of 1812, who for many years drew a pension from the United States, and Filipinos were so well drilled by the American organizer (General Ward) of the foreign legion (Ever-Victorious army) which brought such fame to Chinese Gordon that the latter leader said the "Manila men" were his best soldiers. So the visit of the battleship fleet and the organization of the Scouts were not the first appearances of Filipinos in American Navy and Army.

The Cavite disturbance of 1872 was combated as an agitation in favor of America, at a time when the United States was considering neither Cavite nor Olongapo for a naval station, but North Borneo. During the stupor which followed the organization of military courts to terrorize the country appeared a translation of Jaegor's Travels, made by the Spanish husband of a lady from Philadelphia, in which the German geographer declared his belief that some day the Philippines would be American and thus make its greatest advancement, as had the former Spanish possession on the Continent which had become part of the Anglo-American republic. This was the book which so interested Dr. Rizal and led to his similar prediction in his La Solidaridad essay, "The Philippines in a Hundred Years."

From Spain, after the restoration of the Bourbons, came the story how the United States and Switzerland were the only nations which recognized the short-lived Spanish republic. The Filipino people, like the President Figueras, were deeply affected "by the mighty voice of the American people hailing with their benediction the advent of a republic," and, to use his words, "rejoiced in the strong bond of union between Spain, which carried to American shores the germs of civilization, and America, which gave Spain by her example the fruits of liberty and democracy". The desire for a Filipino republic patterned after America, and which should be more enduring than Spain's had certainly come into the Philippines before the '80s. The students who went abroad studied its history and those in the Islands eagerly seized every opportunity to learn about the "Anglo-American."

The McKinley tariff bill in its day was almost as much discussed in the Philippines as "Bill Payne" recently, and was appreciated certainly as much by the Filipinos, for the United States had volunteered concessions to sugar which Spain neglected to ask.

Those discontented with the Spanish rule were called "Filibusters", a designation which came from the New World, a corruption of Freebooter, and was originally for partisans of American annexation. Over a year before the battle of Manila Bay the Filipino leaders at Hongkong sent a petition for American intervention through the United States consul general.

Such in outline is the direct relationship of the Philippines past with the country of which it is now a part. The greater part of its customary history is a list of Spanish governors-general with such facts recorded as were believed to contribute to the glory of Spain. The country itself figured little in its own history; so, now that Spain is no longer here, most of it may profitably be discarded.

In the beginning of Spanish rule here troubles with the Chinese, who did the work of practically all the trades, culminated in many massacres of the Mongolians (of course accompanied by looting of their possessions). War, famine and pestilence in the ancient empire made the insecurity of life and property in the Philippines not so great as at home. Politically disaffected (adherents of the displaced native Chinese, or Ming, dynasty) were probably the bulk of the early immigrants, who for the most part came from the Amoy region and were the merchant class rather than coolies.

Spaniards of liberal ideas, too, came to the Islands, deported for political reasons; so that to a restive native population were added revolutionary Chinese and progressive Spanish elements—facts worth noting, for the light they threw on the present agitation. The Filipino of today, politically, is an Oliver Twist who, no matter how many rights he may be granted, is always calling for "more".

The Dutch used to come around to take out in the distant colonies the grudge they owed the home country. The character of these engagements may perhaps best be judged from the celebration, even to this day, of an alleged victory due to a miraculously opportune storm, which prevented the invaders' getting at the Spanish fleet and city. In point, too, is the Spanish military characteristic, which elaborated for Manila a masterly system of successive retreats, and, up to that 13th of August in 1898, when the Spanish standard finally came down from the city, staying behind their walls formed their weakness in warfare.

With the Dutch, the English in war or peace were continually on the watch for Spanish galleons, which carried the only commerce of the Islands with the Spanish peninsula, by way of Mexico. Silver from Mexican mines to pay the expenses of government was the cargo back, and toward Mexico the ships were loaded with silks and products of the Orient.

In 1744 Commodore Ansun's safe return to England had suggested to the British ministry that it might be easy to capture the next treasure ships bound from Acapulco to Manila, but the activity of the French in India prevented the attempt being carried out.

Col. Draper (afterwards Sir Wm. Draper), an officer who had distinguished himself at the siege of Madras in 1759 had devoted part of a period of sick leave to inquiring into the condition of the Spanish settlements in the Philippine Islands; and he had discovered that the defences had been much neglected and that the Spaniards there trusted rather to their remoteness than to their strength for their protection. Upon the commencement of hostilities (Jan. 2, 1762) Col. Draper laid his information before the British ministry and measures were taken accordingly. He was at once sent to India in the man-of-war "Argo," (of 28 guns, Capt. Richard King commanding), with instructions for fitting out an expedition against Manila and with an appointment as commander-in-chief of the troops to be employed. The expedition ultimately consisted of the 79th Regiment, a company of Royal Artillery and miscellaneous bodies which with 630 seamen and 27 Marines from the fleet brought the total of the available field army up to about 2300 men who were embarked in Rear Admiral Cornish's squadron and two East Indiamen. The preparations were begun and completed within 3 weeks. The "Seahorse", (of 20 guns, Capt. Charles Cathcart Grant), was sent in advance to intercept any vessels that might be bound for Manila. A division of the fleet under Commodore Richard Tiddeman sailed July 29, and the rest, with the exception of the Falmouth (60 guns) which was left to convoy an Indiaman, followed under the commander-in-chief. On Aug. 19 the fleet reached Malacca and there watered and took on provisions. On the 27th it sailed again, and on Sept. 23, to the great surprise of the Spaniards, who had not heard of the war, it anchored off Manila.

The ships which took part in the expedition were:

Norfolk 74, Rear Admiral Samuel Cornish, Capt. Richard Kempenfelt.
Elizabeth 64, Commodore Tiddeman, Capt. Isaac Florimand Ourry.
Lenox 74, Capt. Robt. Jocelyn.
Grafton 68, Capt. Hyde Parker.
Weymouth 60, Capt. Richard Collins.
America 60, Capt. Saint Pitchford.
Panther 60, Commander Geo. Onorry (acting for Capt. Wm. Newsom).
Falmouth 50, Capt. Wm. Brenton.
Argo 28, Capt. Richard King.
Seahorse 20, Capt. Charles Cathcart Grant.
Seaford 20, Capt. John Peighin.
Southsea Castle, store-ship.

On the 24th the town was summoned to surrender, but without result, and in the afternoon, under cover of the Argo, Seahorse and Seaford, some troops were landed in spite of a heavy surf which caused much loss of and damage to material. The boats on this occasion were under the direction of Captain Hyde, Parker, Richard Kempenfelt and Wm. Brenton. There was but slight opposition. The rest of the troops and the Marines were disembarked on the 25th, and on the 26th a brigade of seamen, under Captains Colton, Pitchford and Ourry, reinforced them. The following day batteries were erected and opened fire, and on the 29th the Elizabeth and Falmouth were ordered to cooperate as best they could with the army by enfilading the enemy's troops. By Oct. 5 a practicable breach had been made in the work. Early in the morning of that day this was stormed with success and the government officers were driven to the citadel, which they presently surrendered at discretion. Not only Manila, but with it also Luzon and all the Spanish islands were handed over by the terms of the capitulation. It was arranged that Manila should be ransomed for $4,000,000 to save it from pillage. The conquest together with most of the prize money was handed over to the East India Company.

The operations before Manila were less costly than might have been expected. The Army loss was 115 killed, drowned and wounded, and the Navy, 35, only one navy officer was killed, Lieut. Porter, but Comm. Tiddeman was accidentally drowned on the day of the surrender. In reward Admiral Cornish was made a baronet and General Draper a Knight of the Bath. The colors taken at Manila were hung in the chapel of King's College, Cambridge, of which Draper had been a member.

In Jan. 1798, the British frigates Sibylle 38, Capt. Edward Cook, and Fox 32, Capt. Puteney Malcolm, entered the bay of Manila, disguised as French frigates and succeeded in capturing seven boats. On the 22nd they attacked the Spanish fort of Zamboanga in the Philippines, but after sharp actions were repulsed, with the loss of 4 killed and 15 wounded. Visiting Pullock Harbour on the 31st 2 seamen were killed by the natives and 9 carried off. The latter were afterwards restored.

The memory of the battle was kept alive in the navy by the British warship Manila 36, Capt. John Joyce, which on Jan. 28, 1812, was wrecked on Haak Sand, Texel.

During the two years which England held Manila there was carried on a trade with British India which awakened needs for outside goods and agitation for displacing the monopoly in commerce that ended in foreign merchants being permitted, in 1809, to locate in Manila.

Five years later, the last galleon went to Mexico, and a like period after came the final and unsuccessful effort to keep out trade and its accompanying modern ideas—the massacre of foreigners other than Spanish.

The governor-general pointed out very sharply that the insects and reptiles which a French naturalist had in alcohol were not responsible for the outbreak of cholera, but the foreign nations desired something more substantial for the loss of their subjects' lives, and many restrictions on trade were accordingly resumed.

A nautical school in which English was taught was established in the '30s. In the early forties Manila had a commercial newspaper, the "Price Current," with an English supplement.

In 1819, the year of the massacre, an American Naval Officer, Lieutenant John White, visited Manila, and some years later he included his impressions in a book called "History of a Voyage to the China Sea." Of Filipino labor he said: "The natives are not inapt in acquiring knowledge, neither do they want industry when efforts are made and inducements displayed to call their powers into action. They are excellent mechanics and artisans, and as horticulturists their superiority over many of the Asiatics is acknowledged."

Other events of present interest prior to the opening of the Suez Canal were the enviable records of Filipino soldiers when Spain aided France in Cochin-China and the natives began to distrust the boasted superiority of the Spanish soldier for they found themselves doing his fighting; the shaking of Filipino belief in the wickedness of disloyalty when their church leaders were sympathizing with the unsuccessful Carlists in Spanish home dissensions, and the liberalizing influence of Spanish republicans who were deported to the Philippines for punishment. About this time a Monsieur Mallat investigated Philippine conditions, for the Spanish government and suggested improvements. His report had a third volume which was circulated only among a few, but it is now known that his recommendations provided for a form of government much similar to the one now established.

The list of insurrections from the earliest days down is long, but they were not general and came mainly from local grievances. The most notable, besides the Mexican officers' revolt already mentioned, was over land troubles.

An interval of liberal rule which followed the opening of the Suez Canal was deceptive, for the letters of influential Filipinos were opened in the mails and the progressive ones thus discovered. An alleged mutiny conveniently broke out in Cavite. The native troops mainly were loyal and under command of Spanish officers gave no quarter to their mutinous comrades in what was rather a massacre than an attack.

Then came military law. Many were shot for conspiracy and other offenses and the Hongkong papers of that day tell revolting stories of inhuman public executions in Manila. Three priests were garroted, but the church refused to recognize their guilt and the people at once acclaimed them as martyrs. One was a wealthy old man, famed for his charity and kind heart, another a leading professor in the University who was inspirer of the native clergy in their efforts for recognition by the church, and the third a case of mistaken identity.

Groups of exiles who had established themselves in Hongkong, London and Paris made these cities centers for Filipino students and many more went to Spain where democratic, English Barcelona was preferred by them to Castilian Madrid. The most notable of the students was José Rizal whose picture is now on the 2-centavo stamp and the two-peso bill. Curiously enough, his ancestry included a XV century revolutionary Chinaman who left a city famed in Chinese history for its resistance to tyranny, an XVIII century Spanish nobleman who was exiled when the liberal Spaniards were said to be pro-English and so disloyal, and apparently, though not proven, as are the other branches, he was of the same Malay family as were the rajahs who ruled Manila when the Spanish first came.

Educated in Madrid, Paris, Berlin Heidelberg, Leipsig and London, he was a genius, the friend of the leading scientists in Europe; oculist, poet, sculptor, naturalist, ethnologist, master of twenty languages, yet modest and unassuming. He attained this all-around distinction through ambition aroused in childhood by tales of Hongkong's famous governor. Sir John Bowring once visited the Philippines and was guest in the home of Rizal's half uncle who was educated in British India and had been friend to the leaders of republican Spain.

Dr. Rizal was more German than Latin in his training and his hopes for a change for his country were through a bloodless revolution like that of England when by education his people should have been prepared for self government.

Aspiring to rival Rizal was a refugee lawyer who had escaped from the Islands without resources and was supported by contributions from his adherents. He admired the French revolution and the bloody features of the Philippine revolution may fairly be charged to his influence. The more radical leader naturally attracted the larger following among young students, but for the mass of the Filipinos Rizal was the only hero and his enemies were always careful to use his name to cover their efforts.

Rizal reprinted an old Spanish history, found in the British Museum, with notes to call attention to how little progress had been made in Spain's three centuries of rule. Then in two novels he gave a vivid picture of the Philippine conditions, with his countrymen's failings as unsparingly treated as were the Spanish officials faults, and he forecasted the future in a way that has made him serviceable as guide to the American administration in its efforts toward achieving representative government here. Even America's coming had been foreseen by this Filipino statesman who, on December 30, 1896 on the Luneta, where is now erected a ₱100,000 monument to mark the spot, gave up a life of disinterested and intelligent patriotism such as history seldom has to record. A dozen of his followers of the Liga Filipina (Philippine League), among them a millionaire were shot a fortnight later. But the rival Katipunan, one of the lawyer's disciples whose uprising had cost the innocent Rizal his life, sold out and the leaders, with a part of the money, went to Hongkong.

After the battle of Manila Bay, Aguinaldo landed at Cavite by American permission, was allowed to help himself to guns and organized a force which did good service in hemming the Spaniards in Manila. The money he and his followers had received proved not to have been used personally but was on hand for raising the army. A provisional government was organized near American lines and during the vacillation of American policy a Philippine republic of a sort was established, more representative on paper than in fact. Really it was a disguised military dictatorship, with little security of life or property for those not submissive to its chiefs.

Inspired and encouraged by Americans whose low opinion of their country's justice was hardly warranted in view of the leniency with which it regarded their seditious efforts, a rupture came between the United States troops and their former Filipino allies. The subsequent campaign was educative. Maneuvers were on the offensive, no hiding behind walls, and no place seemed secure no matter how remote. The soldiers paid for their supplies, they made no war on women, cared for Filipino wounded and buried Filipino dead. Hardly was a town captured when it had a school opened, with soldier teachers, and a measure of local government with its temporary discomfort was a decided step toward humaner methods and the barbarities Filipinos perpetrated because they had been accustomed to savage warfare, brought such modified retaliation that they speedily changed to more modern ways.

One Filipino general, desirous to save his country a destructive war, wanted to stake its fortunes on a single pitched battle, but he was assassinated and his murderer went unpunished. This glaring instance of the Malolos (Aguinaldo) government's inefficiency led to wholesale desertions and widespread disaffection. Soon the provisional president whose main concern had been cane and whistle badges of rank was a fugitive telling of how his loyal companions would be rewarded by European trips when success came. Then he was captured, some have said, by his own connivance. Certainly his guards were more needed then to save him from the fury of his now undeceived countrymen than to prevent escape. Yet in the succeeding year Ex-President Aguinaldo became a most dignified character, devoting himself to agriculture and setting an example of industry in repairing the waste of war.

American institutions have come into the Islands despite the opposition of colonial experts who recognized inevitable danger to their rule when their less fortunate subjects should contrast colonial conditions with self government. The predicted failure of American methods has been instead a decided change for the better in surrounding countries who are imitating the innovation. Of the criticisms so frequently heard few bear examination. The many convictions of American officials prove a high standard. The constant denunciation of the native press would only be permitted in a really free country. Nowhere is resort to arms heard except from criminals, for infamous crimes, who have fled the country. Filipinos have aided the government in putting down murder, pillage, rapine and extortion formerly practiced in the name of patriotism by lawless bands. The English spoken is becoming their natural tongue, different from the pedantic phraseology of Japan and the broken "pidgin" of Hongkong.

This sketch of Philippine history has purposely avoided conventional lines and seeks to give the business man and tourist a sympathetic acquaintance with a country whose masses are not repelling American influence or institutions and whose classes are perhaps not so anxious as local political conditions make it convenient to appear, to sever bands which in the short space of a score of years have brought peace, progress, and prosperity never before known in these "far off Eden isles."

How To Use This Directory

ROSENSTOCK'S DIRECTORY is divided into FOUR SECTIONS. Give this a few minutes of your time now, and save yourself time and annoyance when you are in a hurry to find desired information.

The Directory is compiled with a view to making its information easily accessible to all.

The Four Sections are:

Miscellaneous Section—See Index to this Section on page III in front of the book. This is the only section having an index. This Section contains all the Government and Miscellaneous information and it is printed on yellow paper. The Index is printed on page III on white paper in the front of the book. Locate this Index and you will be able to find any table or list you desire instantly.

Alphabetical List of Firm Names—This list contains only names of Firms and Professionals. The list is compiled and arranged alphabetically and a Firm Name can be found as easily as a word in a dictionary. Individual Names will be found under each Firm Name, but the Individual Names are not mixed up with the Firm Names in this Section, as far as alphabetical arrangement is concerned. If you want to find the name and address of an individual, don't use the Firm Names Section, unless you know the firm with which the individual is connected.

Classified List—The classified List is a Business Directory of Local Merchants. This list is arranged under Business Headings, and these Headings are arranged in alphabetical order. In using this Section, first find the Heading you want, which you will find in alphabetical order. After you find your Heading, then you will find under same, a list of local merchants dealing in that specific trade or profession.

Alphabetical List of Local Residents—This is the Section where all Individual Names will be found in alphabetical order, same arrangement as is used in Dictionaries.

Firm Names will not be found in this Section.

REMEMBER THIS

Miscellaneous Information—is found in Miscellaneous Section, Index of which will be found in front of book on page III near Title page.

For Firm Names and Professional Men, look in the Alphabetical List of Firm Names, page 409.

For Business Headings, look in the Classified Section, page 581 and then find the particular Heading you want first.

For Individual Names, look in the Alphabetical List of Local Residents page 693, where you will find the name in alphabetical order.

Simple and Easy, when you Know How.

Use Rosenstock's Manila City Directory for Local information.

It is impossible to compile and print a book of this size without errors, and we ask our friends to call our attention to any error or omission encountered to prevent same error in future editions of the Directory.

DINNER SETS

PURE PORCELAIN—HAND PAINTED

SOLD ON EASY PAYMENTS

The handsome, right, attractive decorations, the distinctive shapes and artistic outlines of the pieces entering into the composition of these sets, the heavy weight of the ware and the low price, all combine to stamp the "YANROSCO" service far superior to anything else that has ever been offered on similar terms.

The "YANROSCO" porcelain is not of the frail and fragile kind, but heavy and substantial, specially BUILT to stand the most severe daily usage.

FACTS OF THE PHILIPPINES

HISTORY

The Philippines were discovered by Magellan in 1521. In 1565 the Spaniards made the first permanent settlement at Cebu. In 1570 they occupied Manila, and were in control of the islands until 1898, the year of American occupation.

GEOGRAPHY

The total number of charted islands exceeds 3,000. Many of these, however, are mere rocks or coral reefs. The largest are Luzon, with an area of approximately 41,000 square miles, and Mindanao, area about 36,000 square miles, which is inhabited principally by the Moros. Next in order are Samar, Negros, Panay, Paragua, Mindoro, Leyte, Cebu, Bohol, and Masbate.

The archipelago lies about 600 miles off the coast of China, in approximately the same latitude as Central America. The northern group is but a short distance south of the Japanese Island of Formosa, while the southernmost extremities reach close to Borneo and the Celebes.

GENERAL

The principal cities and commercial ports in the order of their importance are Manila, Iloilo, Cebu, and Zamboanga. Manila is situated on the island of Luzon, Iloilo on Panay, Cebu on the island of that name, and Zamboanga on Mindanao. Manila is the capital, the first port of the islands, and the chief commercial center. It is distant two days by sea from Hongkong, four days from Nagasaki, five from Shanghai, and seventeen to twenty-eight from San Francisco or Seattle, according to the varying speed of the different vessels on the run. A seventeen knot ship could make the passage from the Pacific Coast to Manila direct in 15 days. The route at present followed touches the principal ports of China and Japan, affording through passengers ample opportunity for a visit in those interesting countries during the regular stops.

The total area of the Philippine Islands is 120,000 square miles made up as follows:

SIDE TRIPS FOR VISITORS AND PLACES OF INTEREST IN THE CITY OF MANILA WITH THEIR HISTORY.

Credit for this information is given to "Information for Travellers Landing in Manila" published by Thomas Cook & Son, official passenger agents to the Philippine Government.

PLACES OF INTEREST IN THE CITY OF MANILA

The "Places of Interest" have been divided into three sections, each arranged alphabetically:

1. In the Walled City.
2. South of the Pasig River.
3. North of the Pasig River.

Churches should be visited before 10:00 a.m. or after 4:00 p.m.

We have arranged a series of excursions by private automobile, accompanied by an English-speaking guide, for visiting the city, and full particulars are contained in our programme entitled "How to See Manila", to be obtained at any of our offices.

WALLED CITY (INTRAMUROS)

The original Spanish Manila, and the oldest part of the modern city (1571), though there were native towns on the site prior to that time. It is about a mile long and half a mile wide, and is surrounded by a battlement wall about two miles and a half in circuit; this is pierced by five gates, besides several gaps cut for streets; the Parian Gate on the east, the Isabela Gate on the north, and the Santa Lucia Gate on the west are especially well preserved and afford passage to important streets. The oldest existing parts of this wall date from about 1590. Around the wall is a strip of land, occupying the place of the original moat and glacis, which is laid out as athletic fields, which are extensively used. Without this strip, nearly encircling the wall, are broad avenues, the Malecon Drive on the west, Magallanes Drive on the northeast, and Bagumbayan Drive on the east, southeast, and south. On the northwest is Fort Santiago. The Walled City is no longer an important residential district, although, as it contains several government offices, many Americans have lodgings there, and there are several small hotels. Its principal points of interest have been mentioned separately. It should be noted that, though commonly known as the Walled City to Americans its official name and the one best known to natives, is Intramuros, and the street cars passing through it are so marked.

THE AQUARIUM.—The aquarium of the Bureau of Science is situated in Manila on Calle Gral. Luna (Palacio) within the bastion of the Puerta Real of the old Walled City, and the grounds have been parked and are very attractive. The building is a substantial one-story structure of re-enforced concrete and follows the outline of the old bastion, which is that of an irregular pentagon. It consists of a single corridor or tunnel, 85 meters (275 feet) long and 8 meters (25 feet) wide. There are twenty-seven exhibition tanks which are faced with 1-inch plate glass set in solid iron frames 1 by 2 meters (3¼ by 6-1/2 feet) and lighted by skylights, one over each tank. The backs of the tanks slope so that there is no unlighted corner, and practically all of the light in the corridor comes through the tanks; this allows a most satisfactory view of the fishes. Louvers placed above the tanks and in the opposite wall provide ventilation and render the corridor cool. Electric lights placed near the skylights provide for evening displays. Two tanks, each about 12 meters (40 feet) in diameter, outside of the corridor, afford accommodation for crocodiles and for large fishes, sharks, or turtles; these tanks may be seen also from within the corridor and present a pleasing grotto effect. The storage tanks have a capacity of 95,000 liter (25,000 gallons). The closed circulation system is used. The water is returned to the supply tank from the acquaria through sand filters by means of an electric pump and thus it is used over and over again. This system is the same as is used in the New York Aquarium. Each exhibition tank is so equipped that it can be supplied with fresh water and air as well as with salt water. The salt-water pipe system is lined throughout with lead to prevent corrosion.

It is the intention of the Bureau of Science to have at all times an interesting display of bright-colored and curious fishes, sea anemones, crabs, sea urchins, starfishes, and other sea animals found in the waters of the Philippine Islands. When fully equipped the aquarium will be one of the best of its kind in the world. Stone steps lead to the top of the old bastion wall from which a fine view of the harbor, shipping, Luneta, and bay shore can be obtained.

The aquarium is open daily from 9 o'clock in the morning until noon and from 2 to 6 in the afternoon; on Sundays and holidays it is open until 9 o'clock in the evening. The admission fee is 20 centavos. Colored post cards and booklets showing the highly colored and curious fishes on exhibition are on sale.

ATENEO DE MANILA.—On Arzobispo St., between Real and Anda, in the Walled City, a large school, with some 1200 students of various ages, conducted by the Jesuit Order; is about 60 years old, and was the place of education of many prominent men of the Islands, among them Dr. José Rizal, who took the A. B. course and graduated in 1877; most of the instruction now given in English; contains a good museum of local historical, zoological and ethnological objects, open to the public on Sunday mornings from 9 to 11:30. The most interesting thing, perhaps, to art lovers is the magnificent interior of the college church on the same street.

AUGUSTINIAN CHURCH AND CONVENT.—Generally known to natives as the Church of San Agustin; on the corner of Real and Palacio Sts., in the Walled City; oldest church, and probably the oldest building standing in the city (1599); portions of the convent are always open to the public, and other portions will generally be shown to male visitors calling in the latter part of the afternoon, when no special religious ceremonies are going on; this was one of the largest convents in the Islands, and is said at one time to have housed 300 friars; the annex, across Real St., and connected with the main building by an overhead passage, is now occupied by the Bureau of Public Works.

AYUNTAMIENTO.—On Plaza McKinley, in the Walled City; properly the City Hall (Spanish Ayuntamiento, a city corporation), but occupied as the headquarters of the central government until the proposed Capitol is built; has been re-erected several times on the same site; cornerstone of former building, dated 1735, to be seen in entrance hall; on main stairway is statue of Juan Sebastian Elcano, who succeeded to the command of Magellan's fleet after his death and completed the first voyage around the world; the doors on either side of the statue lead to the Marble Hall, which is the session room (Oct.-Feb.) of the Assembly the elective Lower House of the Philippine Legislature; the rest of the building is occupied by government offices, and contains little of interest.

SOUTH OF THE PASIG RIVER

BOTANICAL GARDEN.—On the south side of the Pasig, near the Post Office, the Bridge of Spain, and the Santa Cruz Bridge, between P. Burgos (Bagumbayan Drive) and Arroceros St., is a small but finely kept park, rather than a botanical garden, though the variety of vegetable species is very large for a tract of the size; contains also a small zoological garden, a bandstand, where the Constabulary, or a military, band plays on certain nights of the week, and statue of Sebastian Vidal, a Spanish botanist, who built up the original garden.

BUREAU OF SCIENCE.—Headquarters of the scientific work of the government on Calle Herran and Taft Avenue; contains a scientific library, and large collections of specimens and models illustrating various branches of science, and the industries most of which are shown to visitors on application during office hours 8 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m., except on Saturdays and durng portions of April and May when the office is open from 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. The Bureau of Science has a collection of more than 12,000 photographs of subjects relating to the Islands, most of which prints will be made to order for visitors on a few days' notice.

Just inland is the tract of land known as Wallace Field, now used for sports and, every February, as a site for the annual Carnival; it was in Spanish times the place for the execution of political prisoners, and among the victims was the Filipino surgeon, novelist, and patriot, Dr. José Rizal (1861-1896), to whom a monument has recently been erected on the Luneta; the same tract has been selected as the site for the proposed Capitol buildings. To seaward of the Luneta is a park known as Burnham Green, named after the architect who planned the recent civic improvements in Manila, and between that and the bay will be laid out a new and enlarged Luneta. The land on the north side of Burnham Green is occupied by the Manila Hotel, the south side by the Army and Navy and Elks Clubs, and the southeast corner by the University Club. About the middle of the south side is the city end of the boulevard planned to run along the bay shore to Cavite (16 miles).

OBSERVATORY.—This, the central office of the Philippine Weather Bureau, on Padre Faura St., opposite the end of Nebraska St., is merely rented by the government, having been founded in 1865 by the Jesuit Order, trained members of which who have been enrolled in the Civil Service still conduct the work. It is one of the oldest and yet most efficient modern meteorological and astronomical institutions in the Far East, and is especially noted for its work in connection with typhoons and earthquakes.

PHILIPPINE GENERAL HOSPITAL.—On Taft Avenue, between Parde Faura and Herran Sts. The largest and most completely fitted institution of the kind in the Far East; built 1908-1910. The hospital has a total capacity of 382 beds: 71 for pay patients and 311 for charity cases. In connection is a dispensary, which treated 115,579 cases in 1917, and a large and efficient school for training male and female nurses. Within practicable limits, visitors are shown over the buildings in the afternoon, on application at the office.

The central building, University Hall, containing the first three of these departments, is on Padre Faura St., between Taft Ave. and Florida, and nearly opposite the Observatory. The College of Medicine and Surgery is on Herran St., next to the Bureau of Science building. The College of Veterinary Medicine is in San Lazaro and the College of Agriculture at Los Baños. The number of students, excluding the School of Fine Arts, the School of Nursing, and the Conservatory of Music which are not of university grade, is at present about 1600.

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.—The local Association is unique in that it is the only one in the world having three complete association plants on one site.

The American-European building faces on Calle Concepcion and is opposite the big Army Hospital and in the rear of the City Hall. Some five hundred young Americans and Europeans make it their headquarters. The second building of this group is located on the Concepcion-Marcelino corner of the same site and houses the Filipino City Y. M. C. A. The third, located in the rear of the American Building and on calle Arroceros, is given over to the use of Filipino students. All three Association are in charge of trained American secretaries. Visitors are always welcomed and on applicacation to the secretary in charge, guest cards giving the use of the library, swimming pool, gymnasium and other privileges will be furnished free of charge.

NORTH OF THE PASIG RIVER

BILIBID PRISON.—On Azcarraga St., just east of Rizal Avenue, the central penitentiary of the Islands, and one of the largest and best managed institutions of the kind in the world. The average number of prisoners is about

Digitized by Google

3,000. The main part of the prison, which altogether covers twenty acres, consists of well ventilated wards radiating from a central tower, cells being little used. There is a fine hospital, a school, and a highly developed industrial department where prisoners are taught trades, with excellent results. Such parts of the institution as are shown to visitors may best be seen by attending at the retreat, which takes place at 4:30 every afternoon; the prisoners are reviewed, put through calisthenic exercises, and a large band, composed of prisoners, plays, in sight of the visitor. The sales room of the industrial department (see under "Shopping") is open from 8 to 12 a. m. and 1 to 5 p. m.

CEMENTERIO DEL NORTE.—North Cemetery, the principal public garden cemetery of Manila, at the end of Sangleyes St., on the extreme north boundary of the city; is reached by a drive running through the city nurseries, which are a very delightful part of the city, containing a large variety of tropical palms trees, shrubs and flowers; near the further side is La Loma chapel, which frequently serves for funeral services; just before reaching the main entrance is seen, to the left from Sangleyes St., the Chinese Cemetery.

ESCOLTA.—The principal retail business street, running parallel with north side of the Pasig, and about a block away from it, between Plaza Moraga (near the northern approach to the Bridge of Spain) and Plaza Goiti (at the northern approach to the Santa Cruz Bridge); at the latter points is the hub of the street car system; all the principal American, European, and Indian shops and many professional and company offices, are on this street, or the adjacent squares.

MALACAÑANG PALACE.—The residence of the Governor-General of the Philippine Islands, on Aviles St., with gardens bordering on the north bank of the Pasig. The grounds may be viewed and certain rooms of the building will be shown to visitors on application to the policeman on guard, at hours to be ascertained. The building is unpretentious, but tastefully decorated, and contains an historical painting by Juan Luna, a native artist of some European reputation.

ROSARIO STREET.—Runs inland and north from Plaza Moraga, at the western end of the Escolta, to Plaza Binondo. Forms heart of the Chinese quarter of Manila, and is bordered by blocks of small Chinese stores, mainly dry goods on the east and hardware and miscellaneous goods on the west side.

SAN FERNANDO.—Runs in a westerly direction from Plaza Binondo, and at right angles to Rosario St. Its interest to visitors lies in a block of small shops, kept by native women, on the south side; these form a sort of bazaar, which is the principal market in the city for native textiles and embroidered goods.

San SEBASTIAN CHURCH.—On Plaza del Carmen, at the junction of San Sebastian, San Rafael, and Alix Sts., visible from the eastern end of Azcarraga St. A modern building, of interest on account of its peculiar construction, being built like a battleship of steel frames and plates, a novel experiment in earthquake-proof construction.

THE ENVIRONS OF MANILA

The environs of Manila offer the finest motor trips in the Far East. We have arranged a series of excursions by automobile to the chief points of interest, and with each car send an English-speaking guide. Full details as to the routes traversed are shown in special pamphlet entitled "How to See Manila," so the arrangements are only briefly dealt with here.

ANTIPOLO

A pretty ride along the Pasig River, passing Fort McKinley, the old town of Pasig to the Mariquina Valley, and the township of Taytay. Famous as the shrine of the statue of our Lady of Peace and Good Voyages.

Round trip 3 hours.

MONTALBAN GORGE AND WATER WORKS.—Via Fort McKinley, Pasig, and San Mateo. The road round the base of the hills is very picturesque, and Montalban Gorge is said to be one of the most remarkable natural features of Oriental scenery. The dam is built 1,000 feet in height. The best time to visit the gorge is in the late afternoon, starting the return trip at 5 o'clock to enjoy the sunset.

Can also be reached by railway in 2 hours each way.

LOS BAÑOS.—Via Parañaque, Alabang and Calamba. One of the best surfaced roads in the world is that recently constructed to Los Baños ("The Baths") which owes its name and importance to the hot mineral springs which abound in the neighborhood. The road passes Las Piñas Church, famous for its bamboo organ, and proceeds through rolling lands to Alabang, where the government has an agricultural farm and cattle-breeding station. Beyond Alabang is seen the broad expanse of Lake Bay. There is an excellent hotel in Los Baños.

Round trip 6 hours.

Can also be reached by railway occupying 2½ hours each way.

FORT McKINLEY AND RUINS OF GUADALUPE.—The ruins of Guadalupe are situated on a small hill overlooking the Pasig River about five miles from Manila. The wonderful relic of the old Spanish empire was founded about 1620, and it is a mute witness to the power and glory of the former masters of the Philippines. A trip from Manila out via the Pasig River to the ruins, thence through Ft. McKinley, one of the largest Military Reservations in the world, returning via Manila Bay, provides a pleasant run of about two hours.

SIBUL SPRINGS.—About 54 miles on the North Road, famous for its cold sulphur baths. Some caves in the neighborhood offer an interesting side-trip on foot.

Round trip about six hours. Can also be reached by railway to San Miguel de Mayumo, 3½ hours, thence 8 miles by automobile.

The following excursions can be made from Manila by train.

PAGSANJAN GORGE AND RAPIDS AND MAGDAPIO FALLS.—Pagsanjan is 3½ hours from Manila by train and is the starting place for the trip up the gorge, which is made in bancas (native dugout canoes), each carrying one passenger and two boatmen. There are numerous rapids and the scenic features are very interesting.

The round trip can be made in one day, but it is better to allow a day and a half. It is now possible to make the journey to Pagsanjan by automobile and the round trip can be made comfortably in one day.

TAAL VOLCANO.—Taal, the "cloudmaker" as it is locally known, is the lowest active volcano in the world, and is situated in the center of a low island, in a lake 17 miles long and 10½ miles wide, distant 50 miles south of Manila. It is necessary to allow 1½ days for the round trip, spending the night at Tanauar.

THE MANILA-SOUTH ROAD SYSTEM

The road from Manila to Atimonan is a magnificently constructed speedway passable for automobiles at all times. This road is unsurpassed in the Philippine Islands for the diversity and richness of crops grown nearby, historical interest and scenic beauty. A round trip may be made by automobile in one day, with an early start from Manila. A more satisfactory way, however, is to leave Manila in the early morning, run through to Atimonan and return to Los Baños for the night, arriving in Manila next day.

Leaving Manila towards the south the road passes through the new country residence district and the beautiful grounds of the Manila Polo Club, the fish ponds and salt beds of Las Piñas, which supply Manila with these staple foodstuffs, and through a magnificent bamboo avenue to the government experimental stock farm at Alabang, arriving at Los Baños, a distance of 65 kilometers or 41 miles from Manila. The famous Isuan aerated water is bottled at this place, taken from hot springs Magnificent medicated baths, both hot water and vapor, are in Los Baños, as well as a private sanitarium and hotel. Next beyond Los Baños is the Government Agricultural College; the road continues around the base of Mount Makiling, through Bay, Calauan and San Pablo, the center of the coconut culture in Laguna Province and the richest town, per capita, in the Philippine Islands, onward to Tayabas province. Passing through the highly developed agricultural regions of Tayabas province, Lucena, the capital, is reached. Between Lucena and Atimonan on the Pacific Coast the coastal mountain range is passed through primeval tropical forest. Crossing this coastal range, a magnificent view to the south and west over the China Sea is obtainable. No road of the same length in the Philippine Islands will equal this for general interest to the traveller nor show as great diversity of tropical products, both natural and cultivated

Manila to Atimonan.—179 kilometers or 112 miles.

BAGUIO

The development and growth of Baguio is so amazing and its value as a holiday and health resort is so important as to warrant the publication of a special handbook. We give here, therefore, but a very brief description of this wonderful mountain city and for full information travellers should refer to our booklet entitled "Baguio, the Mountain Resort of the Philippine Islands," recently published, to be obtained free of charge from any of our offices. About 160 miles to the north of Manila, nestling high up among the Benguet mountains, is Baguio, the mountain resort of the Philippine Islands, a garden city that has in less than ten years progressed from a native village of rude huts to a highly developed mountain resort. Most of the public utilities common to our large cities are to be found here, comprising steam laundries an electric light plant, water and sewer system, telegraphic communication with the world, a telephone system which also connects with the lowlands 25 miles away and with mountain stations and rest-houses 100 km. north, market, automobile fire brigade, hospital, library, observatory and weather bureau, automobile bus service, theatre. There are also well-equipped hotels, a Country Club, golf links, Gun Club and polo ground where international matches are held, athletic fields, tennis courts and several baseball diamonds.

Baguio ranges in elevation from 4,500 to over 5,500 feet and is surrounded practically on all sides by high mountain ridges and "hogsbacks" towering into the skies to almost 8,000 feet.

Save during the months of July, August and September, the climate of Baguio is ideal, the temperature ranging from 84.7 F. (the highest ever recorded) to 37.4 F. (the lowest ever recorded). The daily variation in temperature, however, is remarkably small and far less than that in the Philippine lowlands. Not only is the mountain air rich in ozone, but it has been demonstrated to be extraordinarily free from germs of all kinds. The delightfullly cool climate of Baguio makes active outdoor exercise comfortable and insures speedy restoration to health and vigor of those suffering ill effects from tropical heat.

Shortly after the American occupation of the Philippines, Baguio was suggested as a possible mountain health resort where one could recuperate; and as a result there was unearthed, in the Spanish archives, a detailed report on Baguio and district made by a committee of three distinguished and competent Spanish officers. In 1900, consequent upon this discovery, a small party consisting of General Luke E. Wright, who later became Governor-General of the Philippine Islands, and a member of gentlemen selected by him, journeyed from San Fernando to Baguio to investigate the possibilities of establishing there a mountain resort and health station. On the strength of the report submitted by this party, the Philippine Commission appropriated the sum of $5,000 (Mexican currency) "for the purpose of making a survey to ascertain the most advantageous route for a railway into the mountains of Benguet, Island of Luzon, and the probable cost thereof." At that time Baguio was inhabited by Igorots and one white man. From this small beginning has grown the finest hill station and health resort in the Orient.

On February 3rd, 1902, a little sanatorium was opened in a small native house and the following year five rough cottages were constructed. One year later, the Commission declared its intention "to make the town of Baguio, in the Province of Benguet, the summer capital of the Archipelago and to construct suitable buildings, to secure suitable transportation, to secure proper water supply. . . and to authorize the making of a plan for a town site for the Municipality of Baguio."

In December, 1904, the late Mr. D. H. Burnham, the great landscape architect, visited Baguio and made a plan for its future development. Baguio beautiful, as it exists today, is the result of his work and his plans are being closely adhered to in the work now being carried out. The town site covers an area of 216 square miles.

The Country Club was organized in the spring of 1906. At the outset the Club House was a rude, grass-roofed shed made of pine slabs, erected in about a week. Its doors and windows were mere openings which could not be closed. From this very modest beginning the Baguio Country Club has grown into an important and up-to-date institution.

A modern hospital and the Governor-General's residence were completed in 1908, and the same year saw the opening of the Teachers' Camp, to which came American teachers from all over the Islands, 150 tents being provided for their use.

In the meantime, work on the famous Benguet Road had progressed steadily, and in 1909, the railway having reached Camp One, five large Stanley automobiles were operated by the Government in carrying passengers from the railway terminus to Baguio; and more than 2,000 persons were thus transported over the road.

In 1910, a real boom began: the old sanatorium was leased for hotel purposes, a second hotel was built and a regular automobile service was established for the conveyance of the public between Camp One and Baguio.

From that time Baguio has continued to develop. There is a modern up-to-date hospital, an automobile fire brigade, electric light plant, a water and sewer system, telegraphic communication with the world and a telephone system connecting all parts of Baguio. This telephone system also connects with the lowlands, and with all the mountain resthouses 200 km. north. Many fine buildings have been erected, including a City Hall, a market, an automobile station and a garage, library, theatre, an observatory and a wether bureau. Two good schools provide educational facilities for American boys and girls. There are two good hotels, and in connection with the Country Club there are golf links, a gun club, and a polo ground. The athletic fields, tennis courts and baseball diamonds, and a race course offer every facility for sport and exercise. The Government maintains a large number of well-built cottages which can be rented fully furnished and equipped at quite reasonable rates. The Country Club also owns a number of cottages which can be rented for short or long periods.

The resident population of Baguio is now 5,000 and the annual number of visitors is rapidly approaching the same figure.

Words really fail to convey an accurate conception of what Baguio is like. Thirty miles of broad, well-surfaced roads wind along its pine-covered hills and afford beautiful glimpses of the luxuriant vegetation. The scenery is everywhere beautiful and in many sections truly magnificent. Smoothly rolling hills enclose valleys with sides sometimes steep and precipitous and sometimes gently sloping. The country is watered by numerous small streams bordered by magnificent tree ferns, while the hillsides of Baguio and the surrounding mountains abound in noble pines, the delightful fragrance of which is ever present. During the rainy season the hills are covered with ferns and orchids, and exquisite white lilies dot the whole country side.

The refreshingly cool climate of Baguio makes active outdoor exercise enjoyable and ensures the speedy restoration to health and vigor of persons suffering the ill effects of tropical heat. Open fires are comfortable morning and evening throughout the year.

Roses, violets, azaleas, etc., grow wild, and in the many beautiful cultivated gardens will be found all of the flowers known to temperate climates. In Trinidad Valley, close by, cabbages and coffee, bananas and potatoes will be seen flourishing in one field. Strawberries and vegetables are picked fresh for the table each day. It is interesting to note that strawberries are grown eight months of the year.

BAGUIO AS A HEALTH RESORT

The following table shows the maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for each month of the year, the figures covering the period from 1910 to 1915:

	PERIOD
January	16.6	61.9	25.5	77.9	9.0	48.2
February	16.9	62.4	27.2	81.0	10.2	50.4
March	18.0	64.4	27.5	81.5	11.1	52.0
Apri	18.9	66.0	28.8	83.8	12.8	55.0
May	18.8	65.8	27.2	81.0	15.0	59.0
June	19.0	66.2	26.8	80.2	11.8	53.2
July	18.2	64.8	26.4	79.5	13.0	55.4
August	17.6	63.7	24.8	76.6	12.8	55.0
September	17.8	64.0	26.2	79.2	13.9	57.0
October	18.0	64.4	27.0	80.6	11.3	52.3
November	17.9	64.2	26.4	79.5	10.9	51.6
December	17.5	63.5	26.4	79.5	10.8	51.4
Mean	18.0	64.2	26.7	80.0	11.9	53.4

Its climate is acknowledged to be more nearly perfect than that of any other locality. The cool, bracing air affords almost instant relief to jangled nerves and exhausted bodies worn out by overwork and by a too prolonged sojourn in tropical lowlands.

One of the very important things about the Baguio climate is its marvellous effect upon victims of tuberculosis. Persons suffering from this disease in its earlier stages may confidently look forward to restored health if willing to live out of doors under the pine trees.

The Baguio Hospital, an up-to-date institution, has fifty beds in its main building, and a tuberculosis camp comprising six open air cottages, with accommodations for fifteen patients.

One has only to see the boys of Bishop Brent's school to be convinced of Baguio's claim as a health resort. A healthier, heartier, sturdier looking lot of youngsters cannot be found anywhere.

To experience Baguio and to see the rapid improvement of visitors there is to be convinced that it has a delightful and beneficial climate.

BAGUIO AS A HOLIDAY RESORT

In this respect Baguio can meet practically all requirements. It has splendid facilities for all kinds of sport and recreations. Regular concerts are held on the Luneta twice a week during the high season (December-June) and daily at Camp John Hay. At Teachers' Camp, dances or other social estertainments are given practically every evening, while the hotels and the Country Club have frequent dances.

Good native ponies and American and Australian horses can be hired for rides over the wonderful trails and the whole district abounds in beautiful walks.

The miles of broad, well-surfaced roads, always in good repair, offer as fine motoring as is to be had any where in the world. There are several private garages and the Government maintains one of the largest garages in the Far East.

ROUTES TO BAGUIO

The Benguet Road.—The main route at present is via the Benguet Road, and the journey can be made by automobile the whole way or by train as far as Mangaldan, thence by automobile. The fame of the Benguet Road and its "Zigzag" has spread far and wide. It had its birth in December, 1901, when the Government appropriated $75,000 for its construction. Colosal obstacles had to be overcome and in four years the cost of the road amounted to approximately $2,000,000.00 it was not until January, 1905, that the first wagon was driven over it into Baguio. Several times storms have swept the road away for miles, bridges and retaining walls crumbling up like paper, only to be built up again and made stronger than before. The total cost to date is approximately ₱6,000,000.00 ($3,000,000). From an elevation of 300 feet (at

Digitized by Google

Camp One) the road rises rapidly and at Camp Colgan the famous Zigzag begins, a climb of over 100 feet being made by zigzagging up the mountain side, while altogether a height of 5,000 feet is gained in 22 miles. The view from the top of the Zigzag back into the cañon far below is truly magnificent.

The auto traffic over the Benguet road is controlled by the block system and accidents are unknown.

The Naguilian Road.—The other route to Baguio is by train to Bauang, the present terminus of the railroad; thence by automobile over the Naguilian Road. Beginning at a short distance from the coast at Bauang, the road parallels the Bauang and Ribsuan Rivers, passing through a foothill section and the Naguilian Valley to Barrio Ribsuan. Leaving the river, the road climbs to an elevation of 200 meters in 3,500 meters, where a view can be had across the plains and the Gulf of Lingayen. From this section on, the road grows in interest, as it practically follows the top of the ridge the rest of the distance to Baguio. Commencing with three hair-pin curves, it crosses from the east to the west slope of the mountain range seven times, by way of saddles or low connecting ridges, giving on the west slope a continuous view of coast and on the east slope an extensive mountain view. At Kilometer 9 can be seen the rugged Irisan River Gorge, made up of a series of falls, with a total fall of 1,800 feet in 1,000 meters. The last view to the coast and the first glimpse of the City of Baguio is obtained at Kilometer 4.

The construction of the Naguilian Road was commenced in January, 1914, and completed on February 1st, 1915. The cost of the mountain section was ₱320,000.00 ($160,000.00) and the total cost from Baguio to Bauang ₱632,000.00 ($316,000.00).

PLACES OF INTEREST IN AND AROUND BAGUIO

(Arranged Alphabetically)

Amphitheatre.—A wonderful open-air theatre in Camp John Hay, located at the side of the official residence provided by the Army for the Commanding General of the Division of the Philippines; built by Igorot laborers, under the immediate supervision of Major General Bell. Advantage has been taken of the existence of a natural amphitheatre with remarkable acoustic properties. The general plan is that of semicircular tiers of seats arranged on five terraces, rising one above the other toward the rear and facing southward toward the speakers' platform, which is situated below in the exact center of the semi-circle. The terraces are twelve feet wide, planted with grass and rising in steps of two and a half feet; except the rear one, which rises five feet. The rock with which the terraces are constructed was largely dug out of the ground itself, and is of variegated and beautiful colors, reds, browns, and lavenders predominating. There are six terrace walls and the top of each has been planted with flowers; none of the trees which originally stood on the ground have been disturbed, while tree ferns and shrubs have been added. The result is an imposing and beautiful auditorium capable of seating 4,000 people, throughout which a whisper can be heard. It is utilized for religious services, concerts, lectures, theatrical performances and other public entertainments.

Athletic Grounds.—Baguio possesses three localities devoted to the pursuit of athletics: one close to Government Center called the Athletic Gounds; one between the Naval Reservation and North Drive, called the Public Athletic Field, the cost of which was defrayed entirely from private funds; and the third in the Teachers' Camp.

Assumption College.—On a high hill on the east side of Trinidad Road, a resthouse for the Asumption Sisters and students of the Assumption College in Manila.

Burnham Park.—In the valley containing the lagoon between the City Hall and Government Center. The development planned includes an athletic field, race track, decorative planting around the lagoon and wide drives.

Camp John Hay.—This beautiful site occupying the south-eastern corner of the city was laid out by the Military in 1906 and has since been improved and built up until it is probably the most attractive post of the U. S. Army. It covers an area of nearly 600 acres and is laid out like a huge park. Its unique feature is the amphitheatre mentioned above while the Italian Garden, the big dormitory and mess hall, Officers' Row and the Scout Post are all worthy of attention. From Officers' Rod the entire mineral region of Benguet can be seen, and splendid views of Mts. Hugo and Data are obtained. The Military Hospital, situated on Sheridan Drive, is now being rebuilt of reinforced concrete, and will be a strictly modern hospital.

City Hall.—At the Northern extremity of the main axis. It is the seat of the Municipal Government, and the deputy treasurer's and most of the sub-provincial offices are here. The local jail and courthouse are also located in this building.

Constabulary Hill.—The hill above the City Hall is known as Constabulary Hill, where is a model military post, the seat of the "Philippine West Point," where officers for the Philippine Constabulary are trained.

Country Club.—Founded in 1906, the Country Club has developed from a rude log shack to be one of the most important institutions of Baguio. In connection with the club, there is an excellently kept golf course, tennis courts, a trap shooting range, and garage. The Club has a number of rooms for the use of members and visitors, also a number of cottages fully equipped with furniture and bed linen, and fitted with electric light, which can be leased for short or long periods.

Dominican Building.—This imposing concrete building erected on the top of a high hill to the West of Baguio, is the school and rest house of the Dominican Fathers. It was completed in 1915, the cost being nearly $100,000.00. A magnificent bird's eye view of the whole of Baguio and of the coastal plain of the China Sea is obtained from the building.

Forbes Park.—Two sections of land set aside for the use of the public and to establish an arboretum, one comparatively small and level bordering the streams, situated between Park Circle and Teachers' Camp, and the other in a large valley with steep sides between Teachers' Camp and Government Center. The general devolpment includes the planting of trees, shrubs, vines and flowers, the construction of bridle and foot paths and the erection of rustic summer houses, foot bridges and benches.

Gardens.—One of the most attractive features of Baguio is the numerous private villas with their beautiful gardens. Visitors who are fond of flowers will be amply repaid by an afternoon in the garden of Mr. John Wagner, located below the Military Cut-Off. A whole hillside has been terraced and it has the appearance in miniature of one of the terraced mountains of the Ifugao country. The local and Manila flower markets are principally supplied from this garden, and bulbs are exported to the United States.

Government Center.—At the southern extremity of the main axis of the city planned by Mr. Burnham is the group of simple buildings in which the Government conducted the affairs of the country when it transferred its quarters to Baguio during the Hot Season.

Hospitals.—There are two hospitals in Baguio: the Civil Hospital located to the left of the Benguet Road just before reaching the Military Cut-Off, and the Military Hospital in Camp John Hay.

Luneta.—On the left of Session Road as one approaches Government Center, is the Luneta, a slightly elevated open space laid out as a public park, one of the many playgrounds of Baguio. A band stand has been erected and concerts are frequently given.

Mansion House.—The official residence of the Governor-General of the Philippine Islands at Baguio about half a mile beyond Park Circle on the Bua Road and facing Wright Park. It is built on simple and modest lines and has fine vegetable and flower gardens.

Mirador.—To the extreme west, of Baguio, perched on a lofty, isolated peak overlooking the vast expanse of the China Sea and the Gulf of Lingayen, and commanding an unobstructed view of all Baguio, stands the Jesuit Observatory, Mirador or Mount Lookout, so called on account of the magnificent view which may be enjoyed from its summit. In this building is located the Weather Bureau, which is well worth a visit if only to see the wonderful instruments that record the world's earthquakes, as well as other interesting apparatus. It is the highest meteorological and seismic station in the tropics of the Far East. The building was erected in 1909. It can be reached by automobile, although it is a delightful walk for early morning, or late afternoon in time for the sunset. Just below Mirador is an Igorot graveyard.

Market.—At the junction of Session and Trinidad Roads is the most fascinating and interesting locality in Baguio, viz, the Market. Sunday morning is the great time for a visit, for it is then the whole world meets, and probably nowhere else will such a conglomeration of races be found, and the babble of so many tongues be heard, while the variety of goods bought and sold is perhaps the most wonderful of all. The smartly uniformed Army and Constabulary officers, the rough miner on a trip to town from the mountains to replenish his supplies, well dressed civilians of all nationalities, the up-to-date Filipino mingle with the scantily dressed Benguets, Lepantos, Bontocs, Ifugaos, and occasionally Kalingas, while the Chinese, Japanese and Sikhs are always in attendance.

In one corner sturdy natives of the hills will be buying the "piece de resistance" of a coming feast—a dog—which will probably have four or five days hiking over the mountain trails, carefully guarded by its purchasers, before its miserable existence is brought to an end. A little further down a fashionably dressed visitor will be buying curios; across the way, squating on the ground, smoking a cigar a foot long, will be a native woman haggling over the price of rice or camotes; and next door one of the Baguio housewives will be buying locally grown strawberries and cabbages; and so on without end.

Naval Reservation.—North of the Public Athelitic Field: the proposed recuperation station for the U. S. Navy, intended to replace the hospitaul now maintained in Yokohama. but so far no work has been commenced.

Park Circle.—The junction of North Drive. Pakdal Road, Gibraltar Road, Bua Road and Country Club Road.

Post and Telegraph office.—Opposite the Benguet Auto Line Station. There is a daily mail service to and from Manila. The rate for telegrams to Manila is 80 centavos for the first 10 words, and 4 centavos for each additional word, address and signature not included.

Race Course.—The Race Course in Burnham Park is built around the Lagoon in the valley between the City Hall and the Government Center. Every year at Christmas or Easter a meet for automobiles and horses is held in which events are arranged for almost every class of car, horse and pony, and good prizes are awarded. The meet is usually preceded by an auto endurance contest from Manila to Baguio. There are also frequent meets for horses and ponies only.

Teachers' Camp.—In the heart of Forbes Park, between North and South Drives, is the Teachers' Camp, instituted in April, 1908. To the "Camp" come American teachers from all over the islands, as soon as the school vacations begin. They are housed in tents or little cottages and lead a life that combines physical with mental activity. Men of intellect and of worldwide reputation in scholastic circles address their assemblies in the mornings, while in the afternoons the Teachers' Camp Athletic Field claims its share of attention. There is a large central building in which social entertainments are given practically every night, the music for dances being provided by a band composed of Igorot musicians. This central building also contains a well-stocked library.

Topside.—At the northern terminus of Gibraltar Road, the private residence of former Governor-General W. Cameron Forbes. The site commands one of the best views of the mining district of Benguet.

Trade School.—In Teachers' Camp, maintained in connection with the Baguio Industrial School. Many useful articles are manufactured and sold at the school, or may be purchased at the Baguio Exchange which is located in one of the Government Center buildings.

Wright Park.—Between Gibraltar Road and Park Road and facing the Mansion House, named after ex-Governor-General Wright. The development work is being paid for from funds donated by his friends. It is being built on a Japanese design and a seven-storey pagoda is one of the special features.

EXCURSIONS IN AND AROUND BAGUIO

Baguio and district abounds in excursions and short trips and whether the traveller's visit is short or long he can rely upon his time being occupied to the fullest extent. Arrangements for any of the following trips can be made with any of Thos. Cook & Son's Offices, and rates will be furnished on application.

For a good comprehensive tour of Baguio by automobile the following route is reccomended:

From either of the two hotels via Session Road, North Drive and Gibraltar Road to Topside; thence via Outlook Drive, But Road (Mansion House and Wright Park) and Country Club Road to Camp John Hay (Amphitheatre and Officers' Row). Passing through Camp John Hay the journey is continued via Sheridan Drive to Military Circle, over Military Cut-Off (proposed Railway Station and Mr. John Wagners Garden). Governor Pack and Kisad Roads to City Hall; thence to Constabulary Hill, and over Naguilian Road to Mirador, returning through the business section (passing market) to the Hotel.

Time occupied: three hours.

For a good pony ride in the immediate vicinity of Baguio a trip out by Trinidad Valley and Pakdal Trail, re-entering the city via Park Circle, will be found well worth while. This route occupies from three to four hours, and offers a most fascinating combination of views, while the wild natural groups of tree ferns, airplants and creepers are simply wonderful.

THE FOLLOWING TRIPS ARE ARRANGED ALPHABETICALLY

Acop's Place.—14 km. from Baguio on the mountain trail, owned by an Igorot chief of the same name. It can be reached by automobile to km. 12. thence on foot or by pony the whole way. This excursion offers a wonderful view of the northern ranges of mountains, and the mountain trail can be traced almost to Haight's Place (km. 60). At sunset the color effect on the deep hollows and the sharp peaks is magnificent.

Benguet Consolidated Mine.—The largest gold mine in Luzon being operated on modern up-to-date lines. Can be visited by auto as far as Bua School (8 km.), thence foot or pony (1.5 km.) or by pony the whole way. There are many mines in the vicinity of Baguio, among which may be mentioned the Major mine (11 km.), reached by pony, and the Headwaters Mine, which is accessible by automobile.

Bua School.—A Government school for Igorot girls, five miles from Baguio, previously known as "Mrs. Kelly's School." The children are taught weaving and household industries.

Digitized by Google

It is well worth a visit and one may purchase souvenirs of various sorts.

Haight's Place.—54 km. up the mountain trail, at an elevation of 7,840 ft. Owned by Mr. G. F. Haight. A beautiful, well watered valley in the heart of the mountains, in the oak region above the pine belt. An ideal spot to rusticate "miles from everywhere." The hand-made sawmill will be found interesting and from Lookout Point (8,000 ft.) wonderful views can be obtained on clear days. Simple accommodations and food are provided. The round trip can be made by pony in two days, but it is better to allow four days, spending a night each way at Camp 30, where beds and plain food are furnished at the provincial resthouse.

Hydro-Electric Plant.—In this little concrete building in a gorge below the Zigzag, at the foot of two great pipe lines which receive their supply from a main line 600 meters above, taking water from the river just below Camp Seven, is generated the current which lights Baguio and Camp John Hay. The plant has a capacity of 900 h .p. of which only about 250 h. p. is being used. The round trip can be made by auto in three hours.

Irisan Saw Mill.—Seven kilometers down the Naguilian Road—a full fledged lumber camp, where big logs are dragged for miles over the srrrounding hills and aftewards sawed into lumber, just as they are in the big camps of Washington and Oregon.

Klondyke's.—This popular bathing resort and resthouse close to Camp One, older than the Benguet Road, has been renovated and thoroughly overhauled, and new bath houses have been constructed. The hot sulphur baths are well worth a visit. Cold showers await the bather as a finishing touch, and good, clean beds and substantial food await those who wish to remain for the day and night.

Santo Tomas.—No visitor to Baguio should miss the trip to Santo Tomas, distant 15 km. from Baguio; a most enjoyable excursion offering many varied and spectacular views. It is one of the highest and most easily ascended peaks in the Philippines, the elevation being nearly 8,000 feet; and in commencing the journey from Baguio the traveller is already half way to the top. The trail leaves the Legarda Road, where, marked by a sign-post, it continues along both sides of a high ridge, on a fairly good level, until the foot of Santo Tomas is reached. From this point it ascends abruptly until reaching the top, passing through a beautiful forest and entering the oak region which is found above the pine belt. The morning and evening view from Tipton near the resthouse, cannot be surpassed anywhere. The Lingayen Gulf and China Sea are veritably at one's feet; to the south is seen the great central plain, the vast expanse of which is broken by lonely Mt. Arayat, sedate and calm, rising from its very center like a huge volcano. The Agno River, undecided in its course, looks like a silver thread thrown on the ground; while to the north a wonderful and ever changing view of the mountain peaks is presented. Probably the most pleasant part of the trip to Santo Tomas is the evening in the cosy resthouse on the summit. The clear, cold air soon persuades the traveller to seek the shelter of the cabin after the sun has set; and there, with a congenial party seated round the big oak log fire happy hours will be spent which will always be a joyous memory. Santo Tomas Resthouse can be reached in four hours from Baguio, on foot or by pony. The trip up the mountain is best made in the afternoon, the return journey being made the following morning, so that full advantage can be taken of the glorious sunset and sunrise.

Trinidad Valley.—Seven kilometers down the Trinidad Road, in what is supposed to be an extinct volcano, is Trinidad Valley. A very pretty little excursion by automobile, pony or on foot. The valley contains several quaint Igorot villages surrounded by irrigated rice fields. The Government Stock Farm and Agricultural Experimental Station are also located here. The valley is the home of the strawberry.

THE NORTHWEST COAST OF LUZON

The Northwest Coast of Luzon is so far but little known by the average traveller, and yet it offers a series of tours, short and long, which are very interesting. It is now possible road follows the sea coast practically the whole way and, except for a stretch of ten to travel by automobile from Baguio to Bangui, the northernmost town on the northwest coast of Luzon, a distance of 208 miles. The miles before the town of Tagudin, good travelling will be experienced throughout. Several sections of the road are wonderfully like the Petite Corniche on the French Riviera, and the road over the mountain from Bacarra to Bangui is as fascinating as the Benguet and Naguilian Roads. Considerable interest is added to the journey by the numerous ruins of huge Spanish churches and convents, and the old Spanish forts scattered along the coast. Leaving Baguio by the Naguilian Road the first large town reached after pasing Bauangs is.

San Fernando, 36 miles from Baguio, the capital of La Union Province and Headquarters of the Constabulary District of Northern Luzon, and the cief port north of Manila on the west coast. Splendid sea bathing is to be had and the San Fernando Hotel provides good accommodation and meals.

Eight miles beyond San Fernando, the Bauoro ferry is reached. This is the first of five ferries between San Fernando and Vigan, which consume from ten to twenty minutes in crossing. A run of 23 miles from the ferry and 67 miles from Baguio is to Tagudin, the seaport of the Mountain Province, from which point supplies are sent into the interior to Cervantes, Bontoc and Kalinga.

The old bell tower situated next to the convent and church and the Belgian Sisters' school located in the convent will be found interesting. Lace and embroideries of special merit are produced in the school.

Nearly three miles beyond Tagudin is the Cervantes Road, and after a run of 50 miles through several towns, over old Spanish ornamental bridges, passing several ruined forts, offering numerous attractions to the kodak fiend, the Abra Gap is reached. About twenty minutes is required to ferry across the Abra River, from which point it is seven miles to Vigan.—122 miles from Baguio. The Vigan Hotel provides good meals and accommodation. The large church and convent will be found interesting. A short side trip of three miles can be made to San Vicente, where famous Ilocano woodcarvers are located.

Paoay.—34 miles from Vigan is a short stop, as it is here the famous blankets and towels are made. The ... taining walls of the ruined church are a special feature.

Laoag.—is reached after a run of 13 the total distance from Baguio being 16 Two short side trips can be made from point, to Dingras, 9½ miles, and to 5½ miles. the bride-to-be with a human head. Now, however, they have been weaned from their bloodthirsty habits, and it can be said without any exaggeration that they are as law abiding as any of their more civilized white brothers. They are being educated on practical lines: the boys are taught trades and farming, the girls, household industries, weaving, etc.; and English is becoming the common language. The maintenance of peace and order is entrusted to the police and the Constabulary, the rank and file of whom are recruited from the people, who have a high respect for these services, and consider it an honor to belong to them.

The scenery is of continual grandeur, constantly changing; rugged and stern, resplendent with waterfalls, natural grottoes, giant pines, sylvan glades; and wild orchids, flowres, wonderful tree ferns, vines and creepers abound. The trail, which ascends to a height of 8,000 feet, creeps up and down the sides of the mountains, following the ridges, giving views into the valleys on both sides and of the mountain tops into the distance, through pine and oak forests; and down into gorges with the huge mountain sides towering to the skies above. A stranger could travel alone over the trails and not experience any difficulty, although for the sake of companionship it is advisable to travel in parties of two or more.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Accommodation.—Well distributed resthouses, erected by the Government throughout the main routes, provide limited accommodation, and plain, wholesome food. They are practically all located in prominent positions, having fine outlooks over the surrounding country. Provided notice of arrival is given in advance, the traveler can rely on finding a big log fire to welcome him at the end of the day's journey, and a substantial hot meal ready to appease the ravenous appetite mountain air gives. Each resthouse is provided with a telephone, which connects with all towns and stations throughout the province and a supply of simple medicines and a first aid outfit is maintained.

Baggage.—Baggage for each person should not exceed 20 kilograms in weight, and should be packed in a waterproof telescopic case or something similar. Straw telescopic cases wrapped in oil cloth can be purchased for a small sum, and will be found quite satisfactory.

Clothing.—The outfit should be as simple and as light as possible, Laundry can be delivered in a few hours at all the principal towns. A light town suit to slip on in the evenings will afford additional comfort after a long day's ride. A light rain coat should be carried, and will be found convenient on chilly evenings, as will also a jersey or other woollen wraps, and a broad brimmed felt hat should be worn.

Cost.—The expense of a trip over the mountain trail is very low. A pony cost ₱2.50 per day, to which must be added the cost of forage, the traveller's meals and accommodation and the hire of cargadores. ₱10.00 ($5.00) per day will cover all necessary expenses.

Curios.—Many articles of Igorot manufacture can be purchased at any of the Exchange stores of the Government in Baguio, Bontoc, Lubuagan and Kiangan and in private shops in Baguio and Bontoc; and those who prefer can also obtain them direct from the natives. The curio hunter will find a wonderful field for the pursuit of his hobby: headaxes, spears, shields, feather head-dresses, basket work, blankets and other native weaving, pottery, articles of brass, copper, silver and gold, images and native carving, etc., etc.

Safety.—Travel throughout the Mountain Province can be undertaken in absolute safety. No firearms need be taken, unless a hunt for wild carabao, deer hogs, which abound in many places, is contemplated. Ladies should not make the trip unless they are experienced trail women. Sometimes swollen rivers must be forded and though ordinarily safe, the mount may stumble and throw its rider into the stream, and several hours may elapse before a resthouse is reached and a change of clothes secured.

As mentioned above, a supply of simple medicines and a first aid outfit are available in each resthouse and the traveller is never more than two or three days journey from a fully equipped and up-to-date hospital.

In all parts travelers will find the natives hospitable and always ready to aid them on the trip. Occasionally parties of hardy-looking hillmen will be met on the trail, who at a cheerful word from the stranger immediately beam from ear to ear with welcome.

Season.—The best time to visit the Mountain Province is between November and April, when the weather is cool and few rains are encountered. However, the trip can be made safely at almost any time of the year except the latter part of July, and August and September, during which months heavy rains are prevalent.

Special Occasions.—The great feasts and ceremonies of the mountain tribes are generally held in the spring and autumn, but as the exact dates are fixed by the old men of the villages only a few days previous to the celebration, it is impossible to furnish an accurate list. The curious rock fight at Bontoc usually takes place about July 4th. Hundreds of braves turn out, choose sides and, armed with shields, take up position on each bank of the Rio Chico to fling rocks and sticks at each other. This continues for three or four days, and many brave warriors are laid out and carried off the field. This rock fight, which is most thrilling, is performed for the propitiation of the gods of good crops and unborn babies.

Transportation.—The trip can be made by horse, pony, or on foot. American or Australian horses usually cover about 8 km. an hour, and native ponies about 5 km. Particular care must be taken that the horse or pony is properly fed at the stopping places, and they should be rested wherever possible. In all descents riders should dismount and lead the horses or ponies, thus preventing them getting sore backs and shoulders.

The baggage is carried by cargadores, who travel on foot, and, as they are able to take short cuts, the visitor more often than not will find his baggage waiting for him on arrival at his next stopping place. These cargadores are very reliable, and given instructions to go to a certain place they may be depended upon to get there.

Tours to cover any period from two days to two months can be arranged and full particulars regarding routes and cost will be furnished on application.

A trip to Bontoc, capital of the Mountain Province and of the subprovince of the same name, will amply justify the time required. The journey can be made by automobile to Tagudin, thence horseback, or by horseback the whole way via Haight's and Mt. Data. Many experienced traveers have compared this latter route favorably with those of the Swiss Alps. The resthouse at Mt. Data is situated in a natural park among huge, tall pines, at an elevation of 8,000 feet.

Bontoc offers a great variety of attractions to interest the stranger. The modern part of the town adjoins the old native village, and the contrast between the old and the new is most pronounced. In the native village will be seen the most primitive Igorot modes of dress and living; also the Igorot "ulog," the unmarried girls' dormitory (really the mating house); the "faw," the old men's club and the place where the young braves used to gather after a successful raid on a neighboring tribe. the peculiar coffins; the village blacksmith, tattoers; pottery works and other quaint institutions of that tribe. In the modern part of the town will be found an excellent industrial school, in which lace making, embroidery, weaving, carpentry, blacksmithing, etc., are being taught to the offspring of the hill people; a modern hospital; the Anglican and Belgian Missions,—in the latter the silk industry is being taught in all its branches;—and a large prison in which are confined all non-Christian prisoners of Luzon. The Provincial Building, (also the residence of the Provincial Governor) is in a commanding position on a hill overlooking the whole town. Bontoc also boasts a club where visitors can obtain accommodation and meals.

There are a number of interesting side-trips to be made from Bontoc: Samoki a native village on the opposite side of the river, its industry being pottery; Mianit (18 km.) has wonderful hot sulphur springs with medicinal qualities. The natives use some of the springs for cooking their rice; by a very primitive process they also obtain salt from the springs. The scenery between Bontoc and Miamit is most picturesque.

A one and a half day trip north to Lubuagan (capital of the subprovince of Kalinga) will bring the traveller into touch with the most primitive and brave of the hill tribes.

Sagada, 18 km. south of Bontoc, possesses several huge underground caves and underground rivers; and here also some splendid examples of that peculiar freak of nature called "sink holes." The Anglican Church, under the Rt. Rev. Bishop Brent, maintains a branch in Sagada; and their several schools, industrial shops and gardens provide special points of interest for a visit. The mission is now erecting a fine stone hospital and a church; the work of quarrying the stone and the construction of the building is being done entirely by the natives.

Probably one of the most unique trips in the whole world is that from Bontoc via Talubin, Benawe, Kiangan, Awa and Monhuihui. The trail passes over the Polis range of mountains, where most beautiful wild orchids and other plants grow in great profusion, and then down into the famous rice terraces of Ifugao. These terraces begin at the very foot of the mountains and seem to end literally up in the clouds. They are most ingeniously watered by canals and water troughs, which wind their way around the most impossible appearing places on the mountain sides. The ingenuity of these ignorant wild people in constructing their marvellous irrigation ditches has astounded many of the best trained and efficient Government engineers. The resthouse at Awa is located on a promontory which overlooks one of the most extensively cultivated regions in the province.

Most of the trails have been located with a view to converting them into automobile routes, and a gradual improvement is continually taking place. Eventually it will not be necessary for travellers over this section of the country to forsake the beaten paths of civilization and to forego macadamised roads and pneumatic tires.

SOUTHERN LUZON

Southern Luzon includes the Provinces of Ambos Camarines, Albay ad Sorosogon—the country of the Bicol people, who rank among the most energetic and progressive of the Philippines. The staple product is Manila hemp, for which it is the most important producing district in the Islands. There are a number of good sized towns, several points of natural or historic interest, and, what is likely to strike the tourist especially, many miles of fine roads, for which the local authorities have made liberal appropriations. A railroad line, over 100 kilometers in extent, is also in operation between the port of Legaspi, in the province of Albay, and Naga, the capital of the province of Ambos Camarines. There are several commercial centres of some importance, the chief being Albay, the capital of the Province of the same name.

The Municipality of Albay now contains something over 40,000 inhabitants; it is divided into three distinct parts, which were at one time separate towns: Legaspi, the port; Albay proper, the official centre; and Daraga.

Legaspi has several docks and good stores and shops, but at present there is no hotel visitors being accommodated at the Commercial Club, a prosperous institution with good quarters. Albay proper is about 2 kilometers (something over a mile) from Legaspi; on the main road. The Plaza is one of the prettiest in the Islands; on it are located the new provincial building, the Presidencia, the High and Trade Schools, Constabulary Barracks and the Church.

Daraga is on the main road about two kilometers from Albay. The cloth known as pinolpog, made of beaten abaca and much resembling Canton linen, is manufactured only in this and the neighboring towns. On the road between Albay and Daraga is the attractive Army post known as Regan Barracks.

There is probably no place offering as many interesting sights as the country around the volcanos of these two provinces. With an automobile a day's trip could be arranged, leaving Legaspi in the early morning for Tabaco and the famous and salubrious Tiwi Springs; returning to Tabaco, traveling thence along the foot of the giant volcano, Mount Mayon (7943 feet), to Ligao and to the beautiful mountain lake, Lake Buhi; and returning to Albay via Guinobatan, the richest hemp centres in the world.

To the tourist, this part of the Philippines can only be thought of with a memory of the beautiful, symmetrical come of Mount Mayon, the peak of which is visible for more than 60 miles, its regular, bare slopes near the top giving rare reflections from the illumination of the sun, while at its base is one of the most productive and picturesque landscapes in the world. The tourist can travel in this beautiful part of the Islands over 240 kilometers (about 150 miles) of magnificent roads with the most varying scenery. An ascent to the top of the volcano, Mayon, can be made in two days, during the dry season.

THE SOUTHERN ISLANDS

THE VISAYAS AND PALAWAN

The "Visayas" is the general name given to the central portion of the Philippine Archipelago. It includes the large islands of Panay, Negros, Cebu, Bohol, Leyte, and Samar, and a very great number of smaller islands. Though greatly broken up by mountains these contain the most thickly populated districts in the Islands and constitute by far the largest area inhabited by a single stock (the Visayan) and speaking, though with many dialect differences, one language. Within this area are the best sugar and some of the best hemp lands, and many other important products of the Islands grow well. To the tourist, perhaps, they do not, outside of the cities of Cebu and Iloilo, abound in "sights." But the larger islands exhibit many fine vistas; and the smaller ones, mostly mountainous, form, with the surrounding tropical waters a combination which, for color and variety of outline, rivals the Inland Sea of Japan.

ILOILO

One of the principal ports of the Philippines. Its present population, including suburbs, is about 48,000, comprising many nationalities. It is a well built town with a number of modern concrete buildings and good American and European stores.

Through the courtesy of the Panay Club, travellers, both ladies and gentlemen, will be extended the privileges of visiting members during the stay in the city; tiffin and dinner can be taken there.

After the round of the shops, which offer special opportunities for obtaining sinamay and jusi cloth, an interesting motor trip can be made to the neighboring towns of Jaro, Molo and Oton, a distance of six miles, over splendid roads, bordered with palm and mango trees. On the Plaza at Jaro is the Bishop's Palace, and the Cathedral; and in one corner the oldest watch tower in the island. In the days of Moro raids a lookout was kept here to warn the inhabitants of the approach of their hereditary enemy. Midway between Jaro and Molo, is Mandurriao, the heart of the jusi-piña district. Every house has a loom or two, where the stranger may see the cloth being made. These old hand looms, with their setting in humble nipa shacks, turn out most beautiful materials, and it is this industry which has made Iloilo famous. The pure jusi is native silk with mercerised cotton figures woven into it; piña is made from the fiber of the pineapple. The cathedral at Molo is well worth a visit. Between Molo and Oton is the old town of Arévalo, supposed to be the place where a force of Legaspi's men first landed on Panay, in 1500. Other places of interest are the old Fort San Pedro, at the mouth of the river, and the provincial schools.

The country surrounding the city is one of the most fertile sections of the Philippines. The whole Province of Iloilo, which occupies the eastern and southern portions of the Island of Panay, consists of an extensive plain, extending far back to the foot of the range of mountains that traverses the western part of the Island. This wide stretch of country is splendidly adapted to the production of rice and sugar. The Panay line of the Philippine Railway Company cuts directly through it, extending as far as Capiz, the capital of the Province of the same name, in the northern portion of the islands. The rolling stock of this railway is all American, and of modern type; the stations are of reinforced concrete, and the trains attain an average speed of 30 miles an hour. On the through trains there is a buffet and an observation section. Mention should be made of the far-sighted policy of this railway of assisting, in every possible manner, the agricultural and industrial development of the country through which their lines pass.

The trip over the railroad takes the traveller past several points of interest. Just before reaching Pavia, on the left hand side of the railway, is a reinforced concrete highway bridge in two spans, each span 100 feet long, forming a pretty picture for the amateur photographer, also of interest as being one of the longest of its kind in the Islands. A short distance beyond Ventura there are seen to the west of the track series of high mountain cliffs of white coral rock. These are hollowed and honeycombed by caves of wonderful structure and great beauty. Some of the most interesting of them may be reached from the town of Dumalag, the station for which is Buntog (distance, 4 kilometers, or about 2½ miles). At Dao a market is held every Sunday, some four to five thousand natives coming in from all parts to trade, principally in sinamay and jusi and piña cloth.

The roads in the neighborhood of Capiz present a very picturesque appearance, being bordered by a small red flowering plant (cologan) used to keep the grass from encroaching upon the roads. At Capiz there is a very excellent school and hospital for Visayan orphan children, under the auspices of the Baptist Mission, the children being brought up and taught useful trades. The railway journey from Iloilo to Capiz occupies some 5 hours. The port of Capiz is Libas, some three miles from the railway station. Those making the trip by private steamer can land at Libas, taking the train to Iloilo, the steamer proceeding south in the meantime to that port.

CEBU

CEBU, the metropolis of the Eastern Visayas, is the oldest European city in the Philippines and one of the oldest occidental settlements in the East. Discovered and temporarily occupied by Magellan in 1521, it became a permanent Spanish possession in 1565, being thus almost exactly the same age as that other Spanish settlement of St. Augustine in Florida. The province has the largest population of any in the Archipelago and is one of the most thickly inhabited. The city has a good harbor, protested by the Island of Mactan, and the scene which presents itself from the moment of entering the channel between this and the mainland is a very busy one. Extensive port works have been practically completed, and sea going of large draft are able to tie up along the docks.

The present population is about 65,000, including all races.

Cebu is a fascinating mixture of old and new and contains a considerable number of places of special interest. The waterfront is busy with the various activities arising from the city's position as one of the chief centres of the Manila hemp trade. Here is a good opportunity to see the finest grades of this important staple, of which the Philippines have practically a monopoly. Most of the places of historic interest are within a short distance of this point. On the main plaza is a small building housing a large hollow cross. This contains within it another cross, which, according to the most probable story, is the original one erected to mark the spot where Magellan and his companions gathered for the first Mass on Philippine soil. A short distance away is the old triangular Fort San Pedro, standing approximately on the site of Magellan's fortification; and in the same neighborhood stands the Augustinian church and convent. Here the sacristan will show to visitors the curious image known as the "Holy Child of Cebu." It is agreed by historians that this is the one which was given by Magellan in 1521 to the temporarily converted wife of the Rajah of Cebu, and recovered forty years later, after the landing of Legaspi. Calle Colón, the oldest street in the Islands, with its many time-worn buildings, is well worth a visit. The main street leading west from the town, past the railroad station, continues out a short distance to the provincial building and the provincial High and Trade schools; and thence to the new Southern Islands Hospital.

Over 450 km. of road passable for autos, of which at all seasons of the year over one hundred and fifty kilometers of most perfectly maintained road of smooth white coral are open to auto travel. The Cebu North Road closely follows the coast for 105 km. to Bogo and offers many beautiful views of the coast and neighboring islands. This road passes through coconut groves, rice and maguey plantations.

From Cebu to Moalbual, 88 kilometers, the road follows the east coast for 40 kilomeers to Carcar and then cuts clear across the island, 20 kilometers to Barili, then south along the western coast to Moalbual. The section between Carcar and Barili shows the most intensive cultivation in the Philippines and compares favorably in agricultural development with Japan. The road along the coast affords many beautiful views too numerous to mention.

From Cebu to Toledo 48 kilometers of road follow up a steep and interesting canyon to the summit and repeats the program with variation down the other side. In addition to the above, several other roads are of much interest to the tourist. Automobiles may be engaged in Cebu for ₱3.00 per hour or ₱20.00 to ₱25.00 per day.

NEGROS

The Island of Negros, the most important sugar producing district in the Philippines, is divided into two provinces, Occidental and Oriental Negros, Bacolod being the capital of the former. It possess a small hotel; visitors, however, will be gladly welcomed and accommodated at the messes maintained by the residential community. There are several large sugar plantations in the neighborhood that may be visited by automobile, while those with time at their disposal will be well repaid by a visit to Mount Canlaon, an active volcano, for the ascent of which three days must be allowed, arrangements to be made locally. The ascent is only possible during April and May. About half an hour's ride from the city are the Mambucal Hot Springs, possessing certain medicinal properties.

DUMAGUETE, the capital of Oriental Negros, has no hotel. There is an interesting old watch tower on the plaza, also the buildings of Silliman Institute. Nine miles to the south is the active volcano of Magaso.

The road from Dumaguete to Tanjay (32 kilometers) offers a pleasant short auto trip along the eastern coast of Negros. This is a cocoanut country and several advanced plantations are passed through.

PALAWAN

Palawan, the westernmost of the Philippine Islands is remarkable in that it is situated entirely outside the volcanic belt. Most of it is still jungle. Puerto Princesa is the capital, and about 8 miles distant, across the bay, is the Iwahig Penal Colony where some thousand convicts who have behaved well at Bilibid, live under the name of "colonists," in charge of a few Americans and Filipinos, and entirely without armed guard or any special restraints. All of the petty officers are "colonists," also the police.

On the west coast of Palawan there is a very remarkable underground river. This has been explored several times by Government officials, a launch having in one instance proceeded under the mountain for more than two miles. In course of time, with better facilities of access, this underground river should become one of the chief attractions of the Islands.

The best salt water fishing in the Islands is to be had of Palawan, especially in Taytay Bay at the northern end of the island, and in Malampaya Sound on the west coast.

THE DEPARTMENT OF MINDANAO AND SULU

The great island of Mindanao, which is the second largest and potentially perhaps the richest of the Archipelago, is, with the exception of the provinces of Misamis and Surigao on the north coast, occupied entirely by the Department of Mindanao and Sulu. In addition, the latter includes the long chain of islands running southwest between the Sulu and Celebes Sea which reaches to within a few miles of Borneo and constitutes the province of Sulu. The other provinces of the Department, located on the island of Mindanao, are Agusan, Bukidnon, Cotabato, Davao, Lanao and Zamboanga. Hemp, lumber and copra are the premier exports of the Department while pearl shells, rice, wax, gum copal and candle-nut (locally known as lumbang or biao) are important products. Great areas of western Mindanao are covered with dense forests containing much valuable hard wood timber. Owing to lack of transportation and other accommodations, much of the department does not invite the visits of travellers. However, boats plying from Manila, Cebu and Zamboanga which frequently make considerable stops at the minor ports of the Department, will afford tourists and others an opportunity of gaining a fairly adequate idea of the country and its inhabitants. Much of the interest of the traveller will, nevertheless, center about Zamboanga, which offers entirely satisfactory facicities for the stop-over of travellers.

ZAMBOANGA.—The Province of Zamboanga occupies the western peninsula of Mindanao and contains a population of about 133,650. The municipality of Zamboanga, which is the capital of the province and of the Department of Mindanao and Sulu, has a cosmopolitan population of about 30,650. This number is made up of Christian Filipinos, Mohammedan Filipinos called "Moros," Chinese, etc. The Moros with their bright clothing and headdress of fez or turban are quite picturesque. Occasionally, Subanuns, the pagan inhabitants of the interior of the peninsula, may be seen in Zamboanga. Zamboanga is without one of the prettiest towns in the Isla in addition to its many attractions, tion with respect to Borneo, Dutch E the Malay Peninsula and Australia, of great importance as a trade center. monthly steamers give connections wit dakan and other British North Borneo and with Singapore.

CLUBS.—Zamboanga Club, Country and Army and Navy Club.

Zamboanga has good garages and liv bles. Some rickshaws drawn by Mo used. There are excellent stores ican, European and Chinese. In some especially in the central store of the Za ga Trading System, located near the D ment Capitol Building on Calle Maga old Moro brass native fabrics and other may be bought. Pearls and pearl shells also be obtained at reasonable prices.

The city is very prettily laid out and beautiful drives lead from the town alo beach or over the rolling mesa land. The are well constructed, with surfaces of or hard coral and lead through lanes conut palms which give welcome shade principal sights of the city comprise the fort of Nuestra Señora del Pilar, a fine men of old Spanish fortification built of rock and commenced June 23, 1635; the partment Capitol to the east of the pier trance, containing, in addition to local g ment offices, the postoffice and telegraph the sunken gardens around the Custom H with their beautiful flower beds, lily and ornamental urns; the park system st ching in all directions from the pier entr and where practically all ornamental sh and flowers known in the Philippines are tivated to profusion and the use made of crete decoration is as pleasing as it is uni the Roman Catholic Church and convent; Army Post with its pictureque canal sh by coconut palms, and green parade gro rightly considered to be one of the pret and most attractive posts in the Islands; the Moro town of Kawakawa with some of houses built over the water as is the M custom, without forgetting Constabulary H quarters, which contain a very complete lection of Moro and other pagan weapons.

Delightful excursions may be made by tomobile over the roads leading out of town. One such excursion may be made the Zamboanga-West Coast Road, 22 kil ters to the San Ramon Penal Farm. The r servation is about a thousand hectares in tent, situated between the beach and the hills. About 500 prisoners are confined h

Their activities are at present entirely agricultural; they cultivate more than 50,000 coconut trees and extensive gardens, besides cleaning and developing new land, and caring for live stock. The clean, airy structures of the prison, constructed of concrete with red tiled roofs and surrounded by coconut trees, emphatically mark the new era in prison policy.

Another automobile trip may be made over the Zamboanga-East Coast Road which leads through the thriving village of Tetuan, then over the mesa to Mercedes and Manikalan, 22 kilometers from Zamboanga. The road will shortly be completed to Kuruan, 50 kilometers distant from the capital. Another short excursion may be made to the waterworks, located in a beautiful little valley about 7 kilometers from Zamboanga. If one has a motor launch at his disposal (there are several for rent in Zamboanga) a trip across the roadstead and above the beautiful coral reefs and sea gardens which fringe the northern shore of the Santa Cruz islands is well worth while. Fifteen miles further on, at Isabela, on Basilan Island, one can see a well equipped sawmill and a thriving plantation of para rubber.

ILIGAN, CAMP OVERTON, O. K. ROAD. DANSALAN, LANAO.—Travellers wishing to make this trip should communicate beforehand with the O. K. Transportation Company at Iligan, which will arrange for transportation to be in readiness upon arrival of steamer at Camp Overton. The latter port, some three miles distant from Iligan, offers the best landing facilities for a trip to Lake Lanao. Soon after leaving Overton, the road begins to ascend, winding up a picturesque gorge as far as Momungan, which is the site of a thriving agricultural colony, all of the settlers being Americons. The old Overton-Keithley (now Overton-Dansalan) Road, which is now practically abandoned, leads near the Maria Cristina Falls, over which the Agus River plunges some 1,000 feet and presents a most fascinating picture. The old road though not in good condition is still passable for autombile from Overton to the falls. After leaving Momungan, the Overton-Dansalan Road skirts the Agus River, which can be seen dashing over boulders some 500 feet below. Soon the "Sacred Mount" comes into view; the natives believe "The Lady of the Lake" lives on the mount, those attempting to reach the summit having spells cast over them resulting in death. Soon after leaving Pantar, the road crosses the Agus River. The trail traverses most beautiful scenery, ever ascending until Camp Keithley bursts into view, with the far stretching waters of Lake Lanao some 2,200 feet above sea level. Camp Keithley is the military post on the lake, while provincial government headquarters are located at Dansalan, a mile beyond the post on a beautiful site overlooking the lake. Dansalan promises to become a very important center, the surrounding country being extremely rich in soil which through the untiring efforts of the officials, the native Moros are gradually bringing under cultivation. Several launches ply on the lake and these afford an opportunity of visiting some quaint villages and seeing the habits and customs of the Moros. At Tugaya, on the west shore, is the center of Moro brass manufacture. Dansalan is some 30 kilometers from Camp Overton and the trip by automobile occupies one hour and a half, somewhat longer by truck.

SULU.—The Province of Sulu includes the islands stretching from Basilan to Borneo. All this was once included within the shadowy boundaries of the Sultanate of Sulu. The latter still lives on the island of Jolo enjoying pensions from the Philippine Government and the Government of British North Borneo. He has houses in Jolo and Maimbung, the latter 16½ kilometers across the island from Jolo.

The town of Jolo, which is the political and commercial center of the province, consists of a picturesque little walled city just one kilometer in circumference and a considerable town outside, the whole having a cosmopolitan population of about 5,500. The town was captured several times by the Spaniards but not permanently occupied until 1876. Even the conquerors controlled little more than the surrounding country that came within the range of the guns on the walls.

Jolo possesses many attractions for the traveller. There are excellent streets and walks with parks, gardens and fountains. The government building and post office is on the left as one comes up the pier. Opposite the pier on a small eminence is military headquarters, which occupies the site of an old Moro fort. Turning to the right and passing the church one goes out to the walled city through the new Gate and passing by the market crosses a small bridge into the Moro barrio of Tulai. Possibly the point of greatest interest in this section of the town is the Chinese pier, on which the merchants of that nationality as well as Indians and Arabs have their shops. Jolo is the center of the pearl fishiers of the islands and if one is experienced in this matter, bargains may often be picked up. In Tulai also there is a Sulu public hospital, together with the residence of the Sultan and his official mosque.

The town as a whole is most picturesque and affords a unique opportunity for the observation of many different races and religious living together in harmony.

A splendid automobile road runs across the island to the Sultan's former capital of Maimbung (16½ Km.) with a branch leading to Indanan and Parang (12 Km. and 28 Km. respectively from Jolo). At Indanan there is an agricultural and industrial school maintained by private philantropy under the direction of the Episcopal Diocese of the Philippines (Bishop Brent). A ride across the Island of Jolo is well worth while in order to gain some idea of the astounding agricultural possibilities of this island. The rolling countryside is covered with black volcanic ash which produces an exuberant growth of vegetation which is almost without parallel even in the tropics.

These holidays, with their names, had their origin in mediaeval England when the State religion was that of the Church of Rome, and they are still observed generally or in some parts of England, Scotland, and Ireland.

January 6, Twelfth Day, or Twelfth-tide—sometimes called Old Christmas day, the same as Epiphany. The previous evening is Twelfth Night, with which many social rites have long been connected.

February 2, Candlemas. Festival of the Purification of the Virgin. Consecration of the lighter candles to be used in the church during the year.

February 14, Old Candlemas, St Valentine's Day.

March 25, Lady Day: Annunciation of the Virgin, April 6 is Old Lady Day.

June 24, Midsummer Day. Feast of the Nativity of John the Baptist. July 7 is old Midsummer Day.

July 15, St. Swithin's Day. There was an old superstition that if rain fell on this day it would continue forty days.

August 1, Lammas Day. Original in England the festival of the wheat harvest. In the Church the festival of St. Peter's miraculous deliverance from prison. Old Lammas Day is August 13.

SEPTEMBER 29, Michaelmas. Feast of St. Michael, the Archangel. Old Michaelmas is October 11.

November 1, All-hallowmas. All-hallow or All Saints Day. The previous evening is All-hallow-e'en, observed by home gatherings and old-time festive rites.

NOVEMBER 11 Martinmas. Feast of St. Martinmas is November 23.

DECEMBER 28, Childerms. Holy Innocents Day.

CERTIFICATES OF ORIGIN

36. If two or more packages are forwarded by the same person to one addressee, and the value of the contents of all the packages exceeds ₱20 Philippine currency, a certificate of origin is required; if the value exceeds ₱50, a ₱2 customs fee stamp must be attached to the certificate of origin.

Digitized by Google

Each package for which a certificate is desired must be prepared for mailing, so packed that the contents may be readily examined, and presented by the sender in person or his authorized representative to one of these customs officers, who upon examination, will issue the certificate if permissible to do so. This certificate must be put inside of an envelope, and the envelope placed inside the package. A package for which a certificate of origin has been issued will not be returned to the sender except upon surrender of his certificate, but will be placed in the mail by the Customs officer. When two or more mail packages are covered by one certificate of origin they should be so numbered that the contents may be readily identified from the description given in the certificate.

The classification of packages as to postage rates will not be changed by having the certificate of origin attached or by having the certificate of the sender written thereon.

Mail packages containing articles of Philippine origin as outlined in paragraph 37 do not require a certificate of origin where the value of the articles contained therein is less than ₱20 Philippine currency, but must, in order to be admitted free into the United States, bear the following indorsement:

"This package contains merchandise the growth, product, or manufacture of the Philippine Islands, and the true value thereof is ₱....., Philippine currency."

This indorsement must be followed by the signature and address of the sender.

37. Articles entitled to certificate.—Certificates of origin are issue for shipments to the United States of articles the growth, product, or manufacture of the Philippine Islands, or of the United States, or of both, or which do not contain foreign materials in excess of 20 per cent of their total value, upon which no drawback of customs duty has been claimed or allowed: Provided, That the value thereof exceeds ₱20 Philippine currency. Articles liable to damage other mail matter or injure those handling the mails must be detained, and, where absolutely necessary to health or safety, destroyed, a special report in either case to be made to the Director of Posts.

UNDELIVERABLE MAIL

40. When mail matter of any class cannot be promptly delivered on account of the addressees being unknown or failing to call for same, lists of such matter must be made and posted in conspicuous places requesting the persons whose names appear in such list to call for mail that is being held for them.

Mail matter which remains undelivered for thirty days should be treated as follows: Mail originating in the Philippine Islands and bearing on the outside of cover the name and address of sender, must be marked with the reason of nondelivery, as "Unknown," "Unclaimed," "Deceased," "Refused," etc.; lines must be drawn through to the original address and the cover marked "Returned to Writer." The article must then be postmarked and placed in the mail for dispatch to the post-office where the sender of the article is located. All undelivered mail originating in the Philippines which does not bear on the outside of the cover the name and address of the sender, must be marked with reason for nondelivery, a line drawn through the post-office address (not the name of the addressee, and the articles post-marked and inclosed in an official envelope addressed to the Dead Letter Office, Manila, P. I.

ADDRESSING MAIL MATTER

41. Excercise Care.—Because of carelessness in addressing and preparing matter for mailing, or failure of sender to place his name and address on it, thousands of letters and other pieces of mail which can not be delivered or returned to the sender, are each year sent to the Dead Letter Office. The Bureau of Posts urgently requests the public to exercise the greatest possible care to see that mail is sufficiently and correctly addressed, in order to secure its prompt and certain delivery, thereby relieving the postal service of much unnecessary expense and increasing its efficiency.

(a) Write plainly the name of the person addressed, street and number, barrio, post-office and province as post offices of the same name are located in several different provinces.

(b) Do not abbreviate or use lead pencil.

(c) Postage stamps should be securely affixed to the upper right corner of the address side, care being taken that one does not overlap another.

(d) Space must be left on the address side of all mail sufficient for a legible address and for all directions permissible thereon, for postage stamps, post-marking, rating, and any words necessary for forwarding or return.

(e) Avoid delay by depositing mail as soon as it is ready, thus insuring prompt dispatch. Much mail is deposited just at the closing hour, and frequently such congestion follows that all of it can not be distributed in time to be given the first dispatch.

PACKING.

42. Admissible articles which, from their form or nature, might damage other mail matter or equipment, or injure the person of any postal employee, may be mailed when packed in accordance with the following conditions:

(a) When not liquid or liquefiable, they must be placed in a bag, box, or removable envelope, or wrapping made of paper, cloth, parchment, or similar material, and inclosed in a box or tube of metal or of wood with a sliding, clasp, or screw lid.

(b) The inner bag, box, envelop, or wrapping of articles liable to break must be surrounded by sawdust, excelsior, cotton, or other similar substance.

(c) Admissible liquids and oils, pastes, salves, or other articles easily liquefiable must be inclosed in strong containers. When in a bottle of glass or other breakable material, the bottle must be very strong and must be inclosed in a block or tube of metal, wood, papier-maché, or similar material, and there must be provided between the bottle and the block or tube a cushion of cotton, felt, or other material sufficient to absorb all the liquid in the event of breakabe. The block, or tube, if of wood, must be at least 5 millimeters thick in its thinnest part; if of papier-maché or similar material, it must be at least 3 millimeters thick for bottles holding 60 cubic centimeters (2 ounces) or less, and at least 4 millimeters thick for bottles holding more than 60 cubic centimeters.

(d) Pastes, salves, etc., not easily liquefiable, will be accepted for mailing when inclosed in water-tight containers and placed in a strong pasteboard or wooden box securely wrapped.

(e) When sharp-pointed instruments are offered for mailing, the points must be capped or encased, so that they cannot cut through their covering. Blades must be bound so that they will remain firmly attached to each other or within their handles or sockets.

(f) Ink powders, pepper, snuff, or other similar powders not explosive, or any similar pulverized dry substance not poisonous, may be sent in the mails when inclosed in the manner prescribed in "c" for liquids, or when inclosed in cases made of metal, wood, papier-maché, or similar material in such manner as to render impossible the escape of any of the contents.

(g) Flour of all kinds must be put up in such manner as to prevent the package breaking or cracking, or the flour being scattered in the mails.

(h) Candies, confectionery, yeast cakes, soap in hard cakes, etc., must be inclosed in boxes and so wrapped as to prevent injury to other mail matter.

43. Seeds and other admissible articles, which are liable from their form or nature to loss or damage unless specially protected, may be put in sealed envelopes of material sufficiently transparent to show the contents clearly without opening.

44. Sealed original packages of proprietary articles, such as soaps, tobacco, pills, tablets, etc., put up in fixed quantities by the manufacturer and not in themselves unmailable, will be accepted for mailing when properly wrapped.

45. Manufacturers or dealers intending to transmit articles in considerable quantities should submit to the post-master at the mailing office, for approval, a specimen parcel showing the manner of packing.

46. For further information on classification, prohibitions, and conditions as to mail to the United States or Foreign Countries, see the latest United States (July) Postal Guide and supplements thereto.

COLLECT ON DELIVERY PARCEL SERVICE.

1. The collect on delivery—hereafter referred to as c. o. d.—parcel service is intended to meet the requirements of persons who wish to pay at the time of their receipt for articles sent to them and also to meet the requirements of merchants and others who wish to recover through the agency of the post-office the charges on articles supplied by them. The service is available for articles of merchandise (including books, magazines, periodicals, and other printed matter) which conform to the postal regulations for the admission of matter to the mails and which are not prohibited from the mails, but subject to the following limitations:

(a) Parcels may be sent only by registered mail and only from a money-order post-office to another money-order post-office in the Philippine Islands.

(b) The limit of size for a parcel is: Greatest length and girth combined 1 meter 80 centimeters.

(c) Parcels closed against inspection, parcels containing writing other than a bill or statement of the contents, and parcels which exceed 5 kilos in weight may be sent only as first-class mail matter.

(d) The amount to be collected upon a single parcel is limited to ₱200.

(e) The sender must certify that the parcel is sent in execution of a definite order received from the addressee.

(f) The service is not available for publications when mailed by publishers at the second-class rate of postage, nor for delivery by the "special delivery" service; but if the sender affixes a special-delivery stamp to a parcel the notice to the addressee required by paragraph 6 will be treated as a special-delivery article and promptly delivered to him.

2. The sender must present with each parcel a bill describing the contents, stating the amount to be collected from the addressee and bearing the following certification:

I certify that the merchandise described in this bill is sent in execution of a definite order from the addressee.

Signature of sender.

As the issue of money orders in fractions of a cent, United States currency, is prohibited, all bills presented with c. o. d. parcels must be in amounts ending in even centavos, such as ₱1.46, ₱1.48, or ₱.50, not ₱1.47, ₱1.49, or ₱1.51. If a bill erroneously ending in uneven centavos is received the postmaster at the office of delivery must deduct 1 centavo and issue the money order for the even amount.

3. In addition to the postage and the registry fee of 16 centavos, a commission in accordance with the following schedule will be charged:

For a collection not exceeding ₱20	₱0.20
For a collection over ₱20 and not exceeding ₱50	.40
For a collection over ₱50 and not exceeding ₱100	.70
For a collection over ₱100 and not exceeding ₱200	1.20

The commission, as well as the postage and registry fee, must be paid by means of postage stamps affixed to the article before mailing. The post-master at the office of origin will be held responsible for any deficiency in postage, registry fee, or commission.

4. The postmaster will make the indorsement "C. O. D., ₱....." (inserting the amount to be collected from the addressee) in a prominent place to the left of the address on the parcel and issue and deliver to the sender a registry receipt (Form 1549) and certificate of mailing (Form 1557). These certificates (Form 1557), bound in books, are to be written in triplicate, using carbon paper for the duplicate and triplicate copies.

5. The parcel will then be handled in the same manner as other registered mail, with the addition that the bill of the sender and the duplicate copy of the certificate of mailing must be sent with the parcel to the office of destination. When a parcel is to be dispatched under an R. P. E. or tag, the bill and duplicate certificate of mailing will be attached to the registry bill (Form 1550) for inclosure in the R. P. E. or tag, and the postmaster will make the notation "C. O. D., ₱....." (inserting the amount to be collected) on the registry bill to the right of the entry describing the article, and on the face of the R. P. E. or tag covering the same. When a parcel is to be delivered at an office to which an inner registered sack is dispatched, the bill and duplicate certificate of mailing will be inclosed in an official envelope and attached to the parcel, and the notation "C. O. D., ₱....." will be made in the observation column of the registry bill opposite the entry covering the article.

6. Upon receipt of a c. o. d. parcel at the office of delivery the postmaster will enter the particulars in the "Record of c. o. d. parcels received for delivery" (book, Form 1558), and no record will be made in the "Record of registered matter received and delivered" (book, Form 1547). The registry notice (Form 1525 must be indorsed across the face "C. O. D. parcel, due ₱....." If the parcel bears a special-delivery stamp, this notice must be immediately delivered as a "special-delivery" article of mail matter.

7. The addressee must not be permitted to open and inspect a c. o. d. parcel before delivery has been effected; but the bill of the sender may be shown him. He must first be required to purchase a money order payable to the sender for the amount of the collection as shown by the bill of the sender, paying the fee thereon, and deliver the order to the postmaster. The postmaster will then deliver the parcel, taking the receipt of the addressee and also hand him the bill of the sender, after making notation thereon of the number of the money order by which paid. The duplicate certificate of mailing will be carefully filed by the postmaster at the event of any question arising as to the amount of the collection.

8. The postmaster will then make the indorsement, "C. O. D., parcel No. ....." (registry number of the parcel) on the back of the money order, enter the number and amount of the order in the proper columns of book (Form 1558), and sent the money order in an official envelope to the postmaster at the office where the parcel originated. Checks must not be accepted for transmission to senders, but payment of the sender's bill must be made by money order as provided in these regulations.

9. When several parcels originating with the same person at the same office are received at one time for one addressee, a separate money order will not be required for each parcel; but the whole amount may be included in one or more money orders, provided all the parcels are delivered at the same time.

10. Upon receipt from the office of issue of a money order in payment of a c. o d. parcel the postmaster will enter the particulars of same in the upper right-hand corner of the triplicate certificate of mailing and then mail the money order in an official envelope to the payee.

11. Refused parcels and parcels remaining undelivered for a period of thirty days will, unless the addressee is absent and has requested that his mail be held for a longer period, be indorsed with the reason for nondelivery and, with the sender's bill and duplicate certificate of mailing, returned free of charge by registered mail to the office of origin. Returned parcels will be entered for delivery to the sender in the "Record of c. o. d. parcels received for delivery" (book, Form 1558) and not in the "Record of registered matter received and delivered" (book, Form 1547). No refund of postage, registry fee, or commission will be made on parcels returned to senders.

(a) Undelivered parcels must not be held longer than 30 days unless the addressee is temporarily absent and has requested that all of his mail be held until his return, or unless the sender of a parcel has indicated thereon that he desires it held for a longer period than 30 days, but under no circumstances should a parcel be held longer than 60 days.

12. In the event of failure to receive, within fifty days from the date of mailing, a money order covering the charges on a c. o. d. parcel or the parcel itself indorsed as undeliverable, the sender should report the matter to the Director of Posts.

13. Except as provided in paragraph 14, c. o. d. parcels must not be reforwarded to post offices not money-order offices nor to points outside of the Philippine Islands. When a parcel is forwarded to another money-order office for delivery to the addressee, the rules governing the reforwarding of registered mail will be observed. The new registry bill and R. P. E. or tag will be indorsed as provided in paragraph 5. A light line will be drawn through the original office of address in the duplicate certificate of mailing and the new office written in red ink directly above. A new certificate of mailing must not be issued and no additional postage, registry fee, or commission will be charged.

14. C. O. D. parcels intended for places where there is no money order office may be addressed to the nearest money order office with notation on the face of the package requesting the postmaster at the money order office to notify the addressee to call at his office for the parcel. Such addresses should be written substantially in the following manner:

Mr. JOHN DOE
Bosc, Tayabas

Postmaster:
Notify addressee at Casan, Tayabas.

Upon receipt of notice (Form 1525), as provided in paragraph 6, the addressee must either arrange to take delivery or remit the amount due by registered mail or otherwise to the office from which the notice was received. If requested to do so, the postmaster will, upon payment of the bill, but not before, forward the parcel by registered mail to the addressee. The indorsement "C. O. D., ₱....." must be erased before forwarding a parcel as provided in this paragraph.

15. Postmasters must make every legitimate effort to promote the efficiency of the c. o. d. service, and must report promptly to the Director of Posts any neglect or violation of these regulations, or irregularities which may come to their attention. Postmasters and other employees will be held responsible for losses caused by their carelessness or neglect in the handling of parcels.

16. Report on Form 1559 of c. o. d. business transacted must be made by every money-order post office promptly after the close of each quarter.

Digitized by Google

(d) Live or dead animals except live bees and dead insects and reptiles when thoroughly dried; fruits and vegetables which easily decompose, and substances which exhale a bad odor; lottery tickets or advertisements, or circulars relative to lotteries; all obscene or immoral articles; articles which in any way may damage or destroy the mails or injure the persons handling them. The presence, in an unsealed parcel, of sealed receptacles containing mailable articles which cannot be safely transmitted in unsealed receptacles, should not render the parcel unmailable, provided the contents of the sealed receptacles are plainly visible, or are unmistakably indicated by the method of packing or by a precise statement on the covers. But such sealed receptacles shall not be admitted to the parcel post unless inclosed in an outside cover open to inspection.

8. Letters must not accompany parcels.—A communication of the nature of personal correspondence must not accompany or be written on any parcel, but an open bill of invoice may be included. If such written matter be found it will be placed in the mails if separable, and if inseparably attached the entire parcel must forwarded, the country of destination will collect upon the accompanying communication or communications double the letter rate of postage prescribed by the Universal Postal Convention.

9. Parcels must not contain separately addressed packages.—A parcel must not contain packages addressed to persons other than the person named in the outside address of the parcel itself. If such enclosed packages be detected they must be sent forward singly charged with new and distinct parcel post rates.

10. Post-offices to inform public.—Postmasters are expected to assist the public to an understanding of the Parcel Post and the advantages it affords.

11. How to mail parcels.—A parcel must not be posted in a letter-box, but must be taken into the post office and handed to the postmaster or other postal official in charge.

12. Address, etc.—Every parcel should bear a complete and legible address, not written in pencil, and be marked conspicuously "Parcel Post," and bear the name and address of the sender in such manner as not to be mistaken for the address of the parcel.

13. Packing.—Every parcel must be securely and substantially packed; but in such a way that it can be opened without damaging its cover, in order that its contents may be easily examined by postmasters and customs officials. Boxes with lids screwed or nailed on may be used, and bags closed by means of sewing, provided they are presented at the post office open for inspection and then closed by the senders, except that parcels for Italy, Argentina and Panama must be accepted for mailing, even though sealed and closed against inspection, provided they conform to other conditions prescribed. Parcels not properly wrapped to insure safe transmission, will not be accepted for mailing.

14. Registration.—The sender of a parcel addressed to any of the places indicated in the foregoing table "International Parcel Post," except Argentina, Australia, Barbados, Curacao, Dutch Guiana, France, French Guiana, Gibraltar, Great Britain, Guadaloupe, Italy, Netherlands East Indies, Martinique, Society Islands, and Uruguay may have the parcel registered by paying a registration fee of 16 centavos and will receive the "return receipt" without additional charge therefor provided he requests a return receipt when he mails the parcel.

15. Return receipts for unregistered parcels.—The sender of an unregistered parcel addressed to Bahamas, Barbados, British Honduras, Curacao, Dutch Guiana, or Jamaica may obtain a "return receipt" for the parcel by prepaying by means of postage stamps a fee of 10 centavos in addition to the ordinary postage. In such cases the words "receipt desired" must be plainly written on the corner of the parcel.

16. Certificate of mailing.—The office of mailing will fill out and date-stamp a "Certificate of Mailing" (From No. 4401) and hand the same to the sender if requested.

17. Customs declarations.—A "customs declaration" (Form No. 4402) properly filled out must be securely attached to every parcel; but so attached that it does not seal or close the parcel so that it cannot be easily opened without damaging the cover. The contents must be accurately described in the English language although an interlineation in another language, if desired, may be furnished. General terms such as "merchandise," or "samples," will not answer. It is not sufficient that the tag be tied to the parcel and allowed to hang loose. In addition to being tied by means of a cord passed through the eyelet, the tag should be bound to the parcel so that it lies flat thereon, and cannot be used as a handle to lift the parcel while in transit. Two copies of the "Declaration" must be forwarded with each parcel destined for Argentina, Martinique, Salvador, The Netherlands East Indies and Venezuela, while two copies of the special declaration "Form No. 2 Bis." (4402½) showing in addition to the usual entries the gross weight of the parcel, the net weight of the contents, the name and full address of the addressee, and whether or not the merchandise is intended for use in connection with supplies or industries for the French Government must be attached to each parcel for France. One copy may be affixed in such a manner that it can be readily removed at the exchange office where the mail is prepared for dispatch to France. All declarations must be post-marked at the post-office of mailing.

18. Customs duties.—Customs duties cannot be prepaid; they will be collected of addresses when the parcels are delivered.

19. Parcel post packages not fully prepaid inadvertently forwarded.—If a parcel for a foreign country is received at Manila with postage not prepaid in full, the mailing office will be directed to transmit the postage stamps necessary to complete the prepayment. Failure to complete the prepayment will prevent the dispatch of the parcel.

Postage stamps or Internal Revenue stamps will not be accepted in payment of customs duties.

22. Delivery charges.—A charge of 10 centavos must be collected upon the delivery of each parcel to the addressee by means of postage stamps affixed to the parcel and cancelled.

As a rule, a delivery fee of not less than 10 centavos is collected when each parcel sent to a foreign country is delivered. This fee cannot be prepaid by the sender.

23. Forwarding, return, and redirection.—Parcels must be forwarded from one Philippine post office to another without additional charge. Parcels which cannot be delivered must be marked to show the cause of non-delivery, such as "unclaimed", "refused", etc., and returned from the post-office of destination under cover to the postmaster, Manila, indorsed "Directory," at the expiration of thirty days from the date of their receipt at the office of destination.

Parcels may be returned to the country of origin, but for such return the sender will be required to pay on each parcel a sum equal to the postage originally prepaid thereon.

24. Storage fee.—A storage fee of five centavos a day for each parcel remaining in the post-office thirty days after the addressee has been notified will be collected from the addressee or consignee, by means of postage stamp to be affixed to each parcel, and cancelled in the presence of the consignee before the delivery of the parcel to the latter.

RULES FOR HANDLING TELEGRAMS.

NOTICE.

Senders of telegrams are advised to have their messages repeated back if they are written in any language other than English.

Telegrams quoting prices should also be repeated back to insure correctness.

TELEGRAMS.

TELEGRAMS TO BE ON PROPER FORMS.

Each telegram for transmission will be written upon the form provided by the Bureau of Posts for that purpose, or will be attached to such form by the sender, or by the person presenting the telegram as the sender's agent, or by the receiving clerk or operator so as to leave the printed heading in full view above the telegram. All telegrams will be transmitted subject to conditions printed on back of sending blank.

If the sender desires a telegram transmitted without signature, the postmaster or receiving clerk will write the words "not signed" below the text. However, as a guaranty of authenticity, the signature of the sender or his representative, together with his address, must appear in the space provided therefor. Such signature or address will not be transmitted. (Rule 1.)

TELEGRAMS AT SENDER'S RISK.

Telegrams to be transmitted by telephone, or delivered by mail, or train are forwarded at sender's risk of delay, nondelivery, or loss, and must always be prepaid. When telegrams for such delivery are offered, the sender must be advised of this regulation. (Rule 1.)

MULTIPLE TELEGRAMS.

When a telegram bears two or more addresses, and delivery is to be made to each address, it will be charged for as two or more telegrams as the case may be. For example, a telegram addressed to "W. Brown, No. 26 Escolta, and B. Wells, No. 60 Echague, Manila" will be charged for as two telegrams. (Rule 2.)

A telegram addressed to "W. Brown, No. 26 Escolta, or B. Wells, No. 60 Echague, Manila" will be delivered to the first address. However, if delivery cannot be effected to him, the telegram will be delivered to the latter address. The words "or B. Wells, No. 60 Echague" are extra words. They will, therefore, be counted and charged for. (Rule 2.)

CODE ADDRESSES AND SIGNATURES.

Code addresses and signatures will not be permitted except on cablegrams to or from points, outside the Philippine Islands. (Rule 2.)

It may be explained to patrons that the foregoing rule is made for the purpose of facilitating the delivery of all telegrams, and that the use of code addreses for domestic telegrams is objectionable because it involves the keeping of records, delay in delivery, and greatly increased liability of error and loss of telegrams. Moreover, the use of code addresses or signature is, in no way of advantage to patrons, because no charge is made for addresses and signatures. (Rule 2.)

ADDRESS TO BE FULL AND COMPLETE.

The address of each telegram must be full and complete, and such that delivery can be effected without search, or request for further information. However, unnecessary and extra words will be counted and charged for.

Telegrams addressed to the city of Manila should, to facilitate prompt delivery, show not only the street and number, but the district as well, since there are a number of streets of the same name. (Rule 3.)

PROFANE LANGUAGE IN TELEGRAMS.

A telegram containing libelous, produce or obscene language will not be accepted for transmission. (Rule 4.)

TRANSMISSION OF TELEGRAMS.

Telegrams will be transmitted in the order received. "Rush" telegrams having preference over all others except weather reports. (Rule 5.)

NO CHARGE FOR SIGNATURES.

No charge will be made for the signature, except in cases of two or more signatures, when all except the last one will be counted and charged for. The names of corporations, companies, or firms, such as "Pacific Commercial Co.," "German Dispensary," "Welch, Havemeyer & Fairchild" are each considered as a single signature. (Rule 6.)

PREPAID REPLY.

When a telegram containing the words "Reply Paid" or the like is presented for transmission, a deposit for a reply of at least ten words must be taken and the indorsement "RP" written in the check always. Should the sender refuse to make deposit, his telegram may be refused. However, in the case of charged telegrams or those filed by properly identified Government officials or responsible customers, employees need not demand a cash deposit for such reply telegrams; but in the case of transients or unknown persons, a deposit covering a reply of at least ten words must always be taken. If a reply of more than ten words is paid for, the check will indicate the number of words paid for—thus. "9 Paid Coml. R. P. 16." (Note: The figure "9" represents the number of words in the body of the message filed. The figures "16" represent the number of words of the reply which have been paid for.) (Rule 7.)

If the number of words is not specified, it shall be understood that only ten words have been prepaid or guaranteed. The deposit, if any has been made, will be held for five days, and if no reply is received within that time, the amount will be returned to the sender. However, if communication is known to be interrupted, the deposit may be held until such time as communication shall have been restored, or the reply received by mail. (Rule 7.)

No deposit must be received without issuing therefor an official receipt (General Form No. 13-A). (Rule 7.)

The office of destination must stamp or write conspicuously on the delivered telegram, and also on the envelope, the words "Reply Paid for" or "Contestación Pagada" and will give special instructions to the messenger to secure such reply. A blank sending form should be inclosed with the message. (Rule 7.)

Digitized by Google

The reply to the telegram will be checked "..... Collect Coml. (or Ins., or Mpal.) Ans." (Rule 7.)

A collect reply to an "RP" telegram will be accepted regardless of the number of words it contains. If it contains more words than have been paid for or guaranteed, the excess must be paid for or the payment guaranteed by the sender of the reply. Such telegrams should carry double checks as "11 Collect Coml. Ans. & 5 Paid Coml" or "11 Collect Coml. Ans. & 6 Collect Coml", as the case may be. (Note: The first check means that 10 words have been previously paid for by the addresses and 5 by the sender. The second check means that 10 words have been previously paid for by the addressee and that the sender desires to have the charges on the additional 5 words collected also from the addressee.) (Rule 7.)

EXTRA CHARGES.

For transmitting a more complete address, or report of delivery, the charge for the service will be one-half the plain language rate on a ten-word telegram between the same points. (Rule 9.)

For duplication or repetition of a telegram, the charge will be one-half the charge on the telegram in question. (Rule 9.)

For repetition of not exceeding ten words in a telegram the charge will be one-half the regular rate on a ten-word telegram of the same class between the same points. In case repetition of more than ten words is required the charge will be one-half the regular rate on the whole telegram. (Rule 9.)

In forwarding telegrams, the extra words (office of origin, month, and date) will be counted with the words in the body, and charged for when the total number of chargeable words (including these) exceeds ten. (Rule 9.)

No charge will be made for the words "Reply Prepaid" or for the words "Repeat Back," written by the Postmaster in the check of the telegram. (Rule 9.)

CLASSIFICATION OF TELEGRAMS.

Plain language telegrams are those which offer an intelligible sense in the language in which written, and which have a clear and connected meaning in that language. Telegrams written in any Philippine dialect or any one of the following languages: English, German, French, Italian, Dutch, Portuguese, Japanese, Spanish, and Latin will be accepted as plain language messages. (Rule 10.)

Cipher telegrams are those formed of groups of letters, figures, punctuation marks, or signs, or of words, expressions, or combinations thereof, having a secret meaning, not fulfilling the conditions of plain or of code language telegrams. Cipher words, except those written exclusively in figures, are unpronounceable according to the current usages of any one of these languages: English, Spanish, French, Italian, German, Dutch, Portuguese, Japanese and Philippine dialects.

Press telegrams are those sent by authorized correspondents to newspapers published in the Philippine Islands and enjoying second-class mail privileges, but only when conforming to the rules for plain language telegrams, and when every word in the body is intended for publication.

Rush telegrams.—The sender of any telegram may have it take precedence in transmission over all other business, except weather reports, by paying double rates.

Repeated telegrams.—All code and cipher messages filed, delivered, or relayed at any telegraph or radio station operated by the Bureau of Posts shall be "repeated back" without exception. An additional charge of one-half the regular plain language charges of the Bureau of Posts on such messages shall be collected. This additional charge is just and reasonable as it takes longer time and greater care to transmit telegrams written in code or cipher than those written in plain language. This rule shall apply to all domestic messages as well as to cablegrams and radiograms while in the course of transmission between any two Bureau of Posts stations.

The inclusion of any code or cipher word in the body of an otherwise plain language message shall subject the whole message to the "repeat back" rate.

The sender of a plain language telegram may also have it repeated and pay the surcharge of 50% thereon to insure correctness.

NOTE.—Senders are advised to have their telegrams repeated if they are written in any language other than English. Telegrams quoting prices should also be repeated to insure correctness).

RULES FOR COUNTING WORDS.

(Rule 11.)

Each dictionary word in plain language messages will be counted at the rate of one word for each fifteen letters or fractional part thereof. Words joined by a hyphen or separated by an apostrophe will be counted as so many separate words. Words such as "thirtyone"

COIN IN LOCAL CIRCULATION

Philippine Pesos are unlimited legal tender in the Philippine Islands unless otherwise specifically provided by contract. The circulation of all foreign coins not upon a gold basis is prevented by means of a prohibiting tax upon their use. The unit of value in the Philippine Islands is the theoretical gold peso, containing 12.9 grains of gold, nine tenths fine, representing a gold value exactly equivalent to one twentith of the United States gold Eagle, or, in other words, equivalent to fifty cents United States Currency. Pesos, Philippine Currency, are designated by the following mark (₱). The Philippine Currency System is that commonly known as the Gold-Exchange Standard. The parity is maintained by the sale of drafts in the Philippines by the Government on its redemption fund in New York and the sale of drafts in New York by the agent of the Philippine Government on the Government's redemption fund in Manila. The Government's rates of exchange are fixed, and represent as nearly as practicable the cost of shipping gold bars between New York and Manila. The Philippine Government, at its option, exchanges Philippine Currency for United States Currency and vice versa. charging for the gold coin a slight premium sufficient to pay transportation expenses. No charge is made for exchange in U. S. Currency for Philippine Cutrency in small amounts.

The sale of drafts, on the other hand, is not optional but obligatory on the part of the Government Philippine Silver Certificates whiie not legal tender. are exchangeable on demand for legal tender coin. are receivable in payment for all Government dues and may be held by banks as part of their legal reserve. United States paper currency though not legal tender is received by the Government and regularly passes current in the trade of the Islands.

MISCELLANEOUS TABLES OF WEIGHTS AND MEASURES

METRIC SYSTEM

The Metric System has been adopted by Mexico, Brazil, Chile, Peru, etc., except Russia and Great Britain, where it is permissive, by all European nations. Various names of the preceding systems are, however, frequently used: In Germany, ½ kilogram =1 pound; in Switzerland, 3-10 of a metre=1 foot, etc., If the first letters of the prefixes deka, hecto, kilo, myria, from the Greek, and deci, centi, milli, from the Latin, are used in preference to our plain English, 10, 100, etc.; it is best to employ capital letters for the multiples and small letters for the sub-divisions, to avoid ambiguities in abbreviations: 1 dekametre or 10 metres=1 Dm.; 1 decimeter or 1-10 of a metre=1 dm.

The Metre, unit of length, is nearly the ten-millionth part of a quadrant of a meridian, of the distance between equator and pole. The International Standard Metre is practically nothing else but a length defined by the distance between two lines on a platinum iridium bar at Oo Centigrade, deposited at the International Bureau of Weights and Measures (Paris, France).

The Litre, unit of capacity, is derived from the weight of one kilogram pure water at greatest density, a cube whose edge is one-tenth of a metre and, therefor, the one-thousandth part of a metric ton.

The gram, unit of weights is a cube of pure water at greatest density, whose edge is one-hundreth of a meter, and therefor, the one-thousandth part of a kilogram, and the one-millionth part of a metric ton.

One silver dollar weight 25 grams, 1 dime=2½ grams 1 five-cent nickel=5 grams.

The Metric System was legalized in the United States on July 28, 1866, when Congres enacted as follows:

"The tables in the schedule hereto annexed shall be organized in the construction of contracts and in all legal preceedings, as establishing, in terms of the weights and measures now in use in the United States, the equivalents of the weights and measures expressed therein in terms of the metric system, and the tables may lawfully be used for computing, determining, and expressing in customary weights and measures the weights and measures or the metric system."

The following are the tables of equivalents:

1 meter=39.37 inches	1 yd.=9144 m.
1 kilometer=.62137 mile	1 rod=5.029 m.
1 sq. m.=1.196 sq. yds.	1 mile=1.6093 km.

The first column of equivalents gives the approximate legalized values, and contain most of the denominations in common use.

TROY MEASURE

For weighing gold silver and precious stones:

24 grains make	1 pennyweight
20 pennyweights make	1 ounce
12 ounces make	1 pound

The Standard Troy Pound is the weight of 22.79437 cubic inches of distilled water, and is less than the pound Avoirdupois.

The Troy Pound is the one adopted by the mint at Philadelphia and elsewhere, and may be regarded as the standard of weight. The following tables show the formula of Troy weight, and the difference between Troy and Avoirdupois weights:

The Troy Pound contains:—

5670 grains equal to...	240 pwt. equal to 12 ounces =1 lb Troy
480 grains equal to...	20 pwt. equal to 1 ounce
24 grains equal to...	1 pwt.

The difference is shown as follows:

7000	Troy grains make 1 pound Avoirdupois.
437½	Troy grains make 1 ounce Avoirdupois.
175	Troy ounces make 192 ounces Avoirdupois.
175	Troy pounds make 144 pounds Avoirdupois.
1	Troy pound makes .822857 pounds Avoirdupois.
1	Avoirdupois pound makes 1.215278 pounds Troy.

One pound Troy is equal to 1 pint Wine Measure.

AVOIRDUPOIS MEASURE

The standard Avoirdupois pound is of the weight 27.7015 cubic inches of distilled water weighed in air 39.830, the barometer at thirty inches; one cubic inch of such water weighs 252.6937 grains and one cubic foot weighs very nearly 1000 ounces.

All coarse articles of merchandise, such as hay, grain, chandler's ware, and all metals except gold and silver are weighed by this measure.

16	drams make	1 ounce

WINE OR LIQUID MEASURE

Wine, spirits, cider, vinegar, oil, honey, etc., are measured and sold by this measure.

The standard unit for measurement of liquids adopted by the U. S. custom house is the wine gallon, 231 cubic inches, and contains 8.388822 Avoirdupois pounds, or 58373 Troy grains of distilled water.

All liquors, except milk, beer and ale, are bought and sold by this measurement.

4 gills make	1	pint
2 pints make	1	quart
4 quarts	1	gallon
31½ gallons make	1	barrel
42 gallons make	1	tierce
100 gallons	1	anker
18 gallons	1	runlet
63 gallons make	1	hogshead
2 hogsheads make	1	pipe or butt
2 pipes or 4 hogsheads	1	ton

One pint wine measure is equal to one pound Troy weight.

Wine, beer and dry measures, and all measures of volume, differ from the cubic measure only in the unit which is used as a standard.

The English Imperial Wine gallon is equal to about 1.2 times the wine gallon of the United States. The wine gallon of the United States contains 231 cubic inches.

One barrel of wine or brandy in Great Britain or United States equals	31½ gallons
One-half barrel in Pennsylvania equals	16 gallons
One double barrel in Pennsylvania equals	64 gallons
A puncheon in Pennsylvania equals	84 gallons
A tierce in Pennsylvania equals	42 gallons

The usual custom in the United States to reduce liquid measures to English or British ones of same denominations is to divide by 1.2, or to be exact, by 1 20032; or to change British to United States measures multiply by 1.2.

ALE OR BEER MEASURE

MILK, CIDER, VINEGAR AND OTHER CHEAP ARTICLES ARE SOLD IN SMALL QUANTITIES BY THIS MEASURE MILK IN MANY PLACES IS ALSO SOLD BY WINE MEASURE.

BOARD MEASURE.

To find the number of feet board measure (B. M.) in a board multiply the length in feet by the breadth in feet by the thickness in inches.

Example: The board measure of a timber 20 ft. x 2 ft. x 2 in. is 80 ft. B. M.

To convert board feet into cubic feet in 80 ft. B. M., 80÷12 equals 6.66 cu. ft.

To convert board feet into tons:

Divide the board feet by 12, and multiply the quotient by the weight in pounds. Divide the weight in pounds by 2,240 to get the tons.

Example: A schooner has 1,000,000 feet B. M. of yellow pine on board. What is the weight of the cargo?

1,000,000÷12 equals 83,333 cu. ft.
83,333 x 38 equals 3,166,654 lbs.
3,166,654÷2,240 equals 1,415 tons (about).

Note: Yellow pine weighs 38 pounds per cubic foot.

FACTS ABOUT THE PHILIPPINES

HISTORY

The Philippines were discovered by Magellan in 1521. In 1565 the Spaniards made the first permanent settlement at Cebu. In 1570 they occupied Manila, and were in control of the islands until 1898, the year of American occupation.

GEOGRAPHY

The total number of charted islands exceeds 3,000. Many of these, however, are mere rocks or coral reefs. The largest islands are Luzon, with an area of approximately 41,000 square miles, and Mindanao, area about 36,000 square miles, which is inhabited principally by the Moros. Next in order are Samar, Negros, Panay, Paragua, Mindoro, Leyte, Cebu, Bohol, and Masbate.

The archipelago lies about 600 miles off the coast of China, in approximately the same latitude as Central America. The northernmost group is but a short distance south of the Japanese island of Formosa, while the southernmost extremities reach close to Borneo and the Celebes.

GENERAL

The principal cities and commercial ports in the order of their importance are Manila, Iloilo, Cebu, and Zamboanga. Manila is situated on the island of Luzon, Iloilo on Panay, Cebu on the island of that name, and Zamboanga on Mindanao. Manila is the capital, the first port of the islands and the chief commercial center. It is distant two days by sea from Hongkong, four days from Nagasaki, five from Shanghai, and seventeen to twenty-eight from San Francisco or Seattle, according to the varying speed of the different vessels on the run. A seventeen knot ship could make the passage from the Pacific Coast to Manila direct in 15 days. The route at present followed touches the principal ports of China and Japan, affording through passengers ample opportunity for a visit in those interesting countries during the regular stops.

On July 1, 1919, the number of regular civil service officials and employees was 525 greater than on the same date, 1918, but the number of Americans so carried on the government's rolls was 210 less than a year ago. Relatively Few People Reside In Large Territory In Which Resources Are Inviting—Suggestions Made For National Development Company Aid

The annual report for 1918 of the acting governor of the Department of Mindanao and Sulu shows that in that vast, potentially productive region embracing one-third of the superficial land area of the islands—"exceeding in area the states of Connecticut, Delaware, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont combined; the kingdoms of Denmark and Holland together, or Portugal or Greece—" there dwells a total population of but 723,655 persons, 564,523 of whom are non-Christian while 159,132 are Christians.

Over the whole region comprising 35,175 square miles the population per square mile is 20.5.

The province of Agusan comprises 4,924 square miles and has a total population of 65,000, 30,000 Christians and 35,000 non-Christian, which is 15.1 per square mile. This province is adapted to grazing, general farming and allied industries.

The province of Bukidnon, similar in natural resources to Agusan, comprises 3,871 square miles and has a Christian population of 21,500, a non Christian population of 44,800, a total population of 66,300, which is 17.1 to the square mile.

The province of Cotabato, with similar natural resources to those of Bukidnon and Agusan, comprises 9,620 square miles and has a Christian population of 132,607, a non-Christian population of 35,402, a total population of 149,144 which is 15.5 to the square mile.

Davao, adapted to the production of hemp, copra and cattle, comprises 7,486 square miles and has a Christian population of 33,194, a non-Christian population of 69,606, a total population of 102,800, which is 13.7 to the square mile.

These are the four provinces offering the greatest opportunities to settlers and to those who wish to develop plantations, but the resources of the other three provinces of the department, Lanao, Sulu and Zamboanga, are only less by comparison. The total area of these three provinces is 9,904 square miles and the total population is 340,111, 67,601 of whom are Christions.

Administrative expenses in 1918 for this one-third of the archipelago were ₱399,911.22. The report says that the department has exercised the utmost care in curtailing expenditures to the last degree compatible with efficiency and good administration. The department received ₱22,844.34 from the operation of army transports in commercial trade, and due acknowledgment is made in the report of the courtesy of the military authorities in allowing the use of military transports not otherwise engaged for the transportation of commercial cargo.

The report shows that during the year 1918 the internal revenue collections in the department amounted to ₱1,814,713.60, a per capita collection of ₱2.51. In 1915 the per capita collections were but ₱1.31. The increase in per capita internal revenue collections during the time since the department was placed under civil administration is ₱1.19. (The per capita internal revenue collections for the islands annually are above ₱5.50.)

In 1915 there were 25,319 parcels of land in the department, taxed on the valuation of ₱10,407,345. In 1918 there were 60,862 parcels, taxed on the valuation of ₱15,894,813.

There are 30 American teachers and 785 Filipinos teachers employed in the public schools of the department, Carl M.Moore being the department superintendent of schools. Compulsory school attendance has more than doubled the enrollment and the tendency is to provide farm schools where the curriculum includes both outdoor and indoor instruction.

In 1918 there were 166 settlement schools and 10 agricultural schools in the department, together with 180 regular primary schools, 14 intermediate schools and one trade school and one secondary school. The settlement and farm schools produced vegetables and field products value at ₱87, 641, and the 121 school gardens and larger number of home gardens produced vegetables valued at ₱10,686.51.

Governor Guingona recommends that ₱500,000 be provided annually for the economic development of the department through the means of agricultural colonies, and that ₱250,000 be provided annually to foment immigration. He also recommends that ₱1,000,000 be provided annually for the extension of the settlement and farm school activities.

The work of the penal colonies is commented upon favorably, as is the work of the constabulary, the bureau of justice and other governmental forces concerned in the work of the department. The suggestion is made that the National Development company purchase plantations that are for sale in the department and also do something toward the development of agriculture and the cattle industry and the exploitation of oil and iron projects.

MANILA'S AMERICAN POPULATION FALLS OFF 42.79 PER CENT

Comparative Figures Also Show Big Decrease In Number Of Spaniards Here

Chinese Are on Increase

Statistics Indicate That Manila's Growth Has Been Slow Among Filipinos

During the past four years the American population of the city of Manila has decreased by 42.79 per cent, as shown by a comparative statement prepared for the secretary of public instruction by the Philippine health service, in which the census results of 1914, when a sanitary survey of the city was made under the auspices of the health service, are placed in contrast with the figures recently compiled by the bureau of the census for the latest canvass.

The 1914 sanitary census showed an American population of 5,474 while the bureau of the census figures for 1918 show only 3,134 Americans resident in the city.

The big decrease in the number of Americans, due in the main to retirement from the insular government service, is exceeded only by the decrease in Manila's Spanish population. In 1914 there were 4,406 Spanish residents here, while now there are only 2,042.

The increase in native population is not large, comparatively speaking. In 1914 there were 236,940 Filipinos in Manila, while when the 1918 census tally was taken there were 285,635.

John Chinaman has increased during the four years intervening between the two census canvasses. In 1914 there were 16,657 Chinamen in Manila, while last year there were 17,563.

Another heading covers "other Asiatics," as distinguished from the Chinese. Indians, Malaysians and Japanese are included in this class. Here there has been an increase of 11.53 per cent in the four years, the total jumping from 1,960 in 1914 to 2,186 in 1918.

The official 1918 census figures give the total Manila population as 285,635. This compares with the sanitary census total population figure for 1914, 266,943.

POPULATION OF MANILA SHOWN TO BE 285,635

Census Figures Indicate Philippines Has Less Than 11,000,000 People

Gain Since 1903 is Over 3,000,000

2,884 Americans, 17,563 Chinese, 1,611 Japanese and 868 other Europeans in City of Manila

Census figures for the three provinces for which the final record has been made, Manila, Rizal and Sorsogon, and the estimated figures for the remainder of the islands indicate that the population of the archipelago is not 11,000,000, as a good many people have believed, but that it is over 10,000,000—which would be a gain of about 3,000,000 since 1903, the date of the last official census—there seems to be no doubt.

Ignacio Villamor, president of the University of the Philippines and director of the Philippine Census, gave out data on the city of Manila and the provinces of Rizal and Sorsogon as follows:

Population—

Manila	285,635
Sorsogon	177,734

An analysis of the population of Manila shows that the male residents number 155,369 and the female residents number 128,244. The preponderance of males is 27,125.

The population statistics by ages for Manila show 3,830 males and 3,582 females less than one year old; 18,486 males and 17,905 females less than six years old; 35,483 males and 32,844 females of school age, that is to say between the ages of six and 17 years inclusive; 65,719 men of military age, or between the ages of 18 and 45 years inclusive; and 71,139 men of voting age, 21 years of age or more.

By races the population of the city is divided as follows: Americans, 3,124; Spaniards, 1,955; British, 635; German, 236; French, 160; Swiss, 95; Chinese, 17,856; Japanese, 1,611; other foreign races, 575; Filipinos, 257,536.

The marital statistics for Manila show that there are 91,490 single males of all ages in the city and 64,547 single females of all ages. This emphasizes the numerical disparagement between the sexes noted in the general population figures. Also, there are 58,725 married males in the city and 51,164 married females. Among these there are 53,263 males living in legal marriage, and 45,235 females. Males living in common law marriage number 5,001, and females living in common law marriage number 5,191.

Thirty-five males living in Manila have been divorced, and 37 females. These are perhaps the lowest divorce figures for any city of equal size under the American flag if not for any city in the world. The explanation is partly found in the fact that the divorce law is of very recent date, having been in effect for less than two years. There are also 5,144 widowers in Manila, and 12,531 widows.

The data on Rizal shows a male population of 120,766 and a female population of 103,369 for that province. There are 2,804 males and 2,700 females less than one year old, 16,252 males and 15,986 females less than six years old, 29,687 males and 29,624 females of school age (6 to 17 years inclusive), 54,833 males military age (18 to 45 years inclusive), and 59,555 males of voting age (21 years of age or more).

The data for Sorsogon shows a male population 91,401 and a female population of 86,333 for that province. 1918 CENSUS SHOWS BIG BOOK DEVELOPMENT

Islands Now Have 1,015 Libraries With 3,740,000 Volumes

A great deal of interest in public libraries in the Philippines is manifested in the latest census canvass. It shows that in 1918 the number of libraries freely accessible to the public has increased to 1,015, and that the aggregate number of volumes available was 3,740,916.

According to Director Villamor, the figures completed by the bureau speak eloquently for the development and spread of the English rather than the Spanish language. The total number of public books written in English and circulated among the people exceeds those written in Spanish by over 3,000,000 volumes.

There were in 1918 in the islands 341 public libraries, together a total of 1,015. The public libraries have in all 3,321,560 books divided according to the language in which they are written as follows: English 3,265,446, Spanish, 23,416; other languages, 41,078, and Philippine dialects, 4,435.

In the semi-public libraries, there are 419,356 volumes, of which 197,339 are in English; 157,364, in Spanish; 54,115, in other languages and 10,539, in the dialects.

Distinction was made by Director Villamor between the public and the semi-public libraries. He said that the public libraries are those which are completely accessible to the public in general, while the semi-public libraries are those which are owned by associations, clubs and religious corporations, of which people may be given the privilege of using them upon permission by the management. That is why, according to Director Villamor, the number of English books in the semi-public libraries does not exceed much the number of Spanish books in the same. Most of the semi-public libraries are owned by Spanish schools and colleges, and convents.

The books written in the dialects have also shown a very marked increase during the lapse of time from 1903 to 1918.

The foregoing figures do not include private or personal libraries.

How To Use This Directory

ROSENSTOCK'S DIRECTORY is divided into FOUR SECTIONS. Give this a few minutes of your time now, and save yourself time and annoyance when you are in a hurry to find desired information.

The Directory is compiled with a view to making its information easily accessible to all.

The Four Sections are:

Miscellaneous Section—See Index to this Section on page III in front of the book. This is the only section having an index. This Section contains all the Government and Miscellaneous information and it is printed on yellow paper. The Index is printed on page III on white paper in the front of the book. Locate this Index and you will be able to find any table or list you desire instantly.

Alphabetical List of Firm Names—This list contains only names of Firms and Professionals. The list is compiled and arranged alphabetically and a Firm Name can be found as easily as a word in a dictionary. Individual Names will be found under each Firm Name, but the Individual Names are not mixed up with the Firm Names in this Section, as far as alphabetical arrangement is concerned. If you want to find the name and address of an individual, don't use the Firm Names Section, unless you know the firm with which the individual is connected.

Classified List—The classified List is a Business Directory of Local Merchants. This list is arranged under Business Headings, and these Headings are arranged in alphabetical order. In using this Section, first find the Heading you want, which you will find in alphabetical order. After you find your Heading, then you will find under same, a list of local merchants dealing in that specific trade or profession.

Alphabetical List of Local Residents—This is the Section where all Individual Names will be found in alphabetical order, same arrangement as is used in Dictionaries.

Firm Names will not be found in this Section.

REMEMBER THIS

Miscellaneous Information—is found in Miscellaneous Section, Index of which will be found in front of book on page III near Title page.

For Firm Names and Professional Men, look in the Alphabetical List of Firm Names, page 409.

For Business Headings, look in the Classified Section, page 581 and then find the particular Heading you want first.

For Individual Names, look in the Alphabetical List of Local Residents page 693, where you will find the name in alphabetical order.

Simple and Easy, when you Know How.

Use Rosenstock's Manila City Directory for Local information.

It is impossible to compile and print a book of this size without errors, and we ask our friends to call our attention to any error or omission encountered to prevent same error in future editions of the Directory.

NOTICE

HOW TO USE THIS DIRECTORY

ROSENSTOCK'S DIRECTORY is divided into FOUR SECTIONS Give this a few minutes of your time now, and save yourself time and annoyance when you are in a hurry to find desired information.

The Directory is compiled with a view of making its information easily accessible to all.

THE FOUR SECTIONS ARE

MISCELLANEOUS SECTION—See Index to this Section on page III in front of the book. This is the only section having an index. This Section contains all the Government and Miscellaneous information and it is printed on yellow paper. The Index is printed on page III on white paper in the front of the book. Locate this Index and you will be able to find any table or list you desire instantly.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF FIRM NAMES— This list contains only names of Firms and Professionals. The list is compiled and arranged alphabetically and a Firm Name can be found as easily as a word in a dictionary. Individual Names will be found under each Firm Name, but the Individual Names are not mixed up with the Firm Names in this Section, as far as alphabetical arrangement is concerned. If you want to find the name and address of an individual, don't use the Firm Names Section, unless you know the Firm with which the individual is connected.

CLASSIFIED LIST— The classified List is a Business Directory of Local Merchants. This list is arranged under Business Headings, and these Headings are arranged in alphabetical order. In using this Section, first find the Heading you want, which you will find in alphabetical order. After you find your Heading, then yon will find under same, a list of local merchants dealing in that specific trade or profession.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF LOCAL RESIDENTS —This is the Section where all individual names will be found in alphabetical order, same arrangement as is used in Dictionaries.

Firm Names will not be fonnd in this Section.

REMEMBER THIS

Miscellaneous Information— is found in Miscellaneous Section, Index of which will be found in front of book on page III near Title page.

For Firm Names and Frofessional Men, look in the Alphabetical List of Firm Names, page. 409

For Business Heading look in the Classified Section, page 581 and then find the particular Heading you want first.

For Individual Names look in the Alphabetical List of Local Residents page 693, where you will find the name in alphabetical order.

Simple and Easy, when you Know How.

Use Rosenstock's Manila City Directory for Local information

It is impossible to compile and print a book of this size without errors, and we ask our friends to call our attention to any error or omission encountered. to prevent same error in future editions of the Directory.

How To Use This Directory

ROSENSTOCK'S DIRECTORY is divided into FOUR SECTIONS. Give this a few minutes of your time now, and save yourself time and annoyance when you are in a hurry to find desired information.

The Directory is compiled with a view to making its information easily accessible to all.

The Four Sections are:

Miscellaneous Section—See Index to this Section on page III in front of the book. This is the only section having an index. This Section contains all the Government and Miscellaneous information and it is printed on yellow paper. The Index is printed on page III on white paper in the front of the book. Locate this Index and you will be able to find any table or list you desire instantly.

Alphabetical List of Firm Names—This list contains only names of Firms and Professionals. The list is compiled and arranged alphabetically and a Firm Name can be found as easily as a word in a dictionary. Individual Names will be found under each Firm Name, but the Individual Names are not mixed up with the Firm Names in this Section, as far as alphabetical arrangement is concerned. If you want to find the name and address of an individual, don't use the Firm Names Section, unless you know the firm with which the individual is connected.

Classified List—The classified List is a Business Directory of Local Merchants. This list is arranged under Business Headings, and these Headings are arranged in alphabetical order. In using this Section, first find the Heading you want, which you will find in alphabetical order. After you find your Heading, then you will find under same, a list of local merchants dealing in that specific trade or profession.

Alphabetical List of Local Residents—This is the Section where all Individual Names will be found in alphabetical order, same arrangement as is used in Dictionaries.

Firm Names will not be found in this Section.

REMEMBER THIS

Miscellaneous Information—is found in Miscellaneous Section, Index of which will be found in front of book on page III near Title page.

For Firm Names and Professional Men, look in the Alphabetical List of Firm Names, page 409.

For Business Headings, look in the Classified Section, page 581 and then find the particular Heading you want first.

For Individual Names, look in the Alphabetical List of Local Residents page 693, where you will find the name in alphabetical order.

Simple and Easy, when you Know How.

Use Rosenstock's Manila City Directory for Local information.

It is impossible to compile and print a book of this size without errors, and we ask our friends to call our attention to any error or omission encountered to prevent same error in future editions of the Directory.
